Oppose Limitation on Council

Australia Asking Share In Framing World Peace

By EDWARD V. ROBERTS
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

LONDON, Sept. 26.—(BUP) — Australian foreign minister, H. V. Evatt, said today that all active belligerents must have a share in the framing of the peace, which cannot rightfully be limited to the five powers represented on the council of foreign ministers.

Evatt made a vigorous bid at a press conference for Australia's rights, at least equal to those of France and Russia, in the peace councils.

The foreign ministers' conference swung into a discussion of French repatriations claims against Germany. A French source said France was seeking the return of industrial machinery, locomotives and art objects looted by the Nazis.

A Russian proposal to establish an Allied control commission for Japan with Soviet, American, British and Chinese representation had

Historic Gesture

Canadian Army Given Freedom of Aldershot

ALDERSHOT, England, Sept. 26.—(CP)—Freedom of this garrison town was presented today to the Canadian army overseas at a ceremony on the Aldershot Football Club's pitch watched by 10,000 Canadian soldiers.

LT.-COL. C. A. RICHARDSON, DSO.

The town's decision was taken after Canadian soldiers, impatient at delays in repatriation, staged demonstrations in the downtown area at the end of July, smashing hundreds of shop windows during riots which lasted two nights. The decision was taken as a goodwill gesture to show that Aldershot did not harbor resentment for the demonstrations.

Four hundred Canadian army men and women paraded and afterwards marched through the town.

Lt.-Gen. P. J. Montague, former chief of staff at Canadian military headquarters, received the freedom from Mayor J. W. White, who said the ceremony was historic because Aldershot was the first borough to present its freedom to a complete overseas army.

FOR ALL BRITAIN

The ceremony was a gesture from the whole British Isles, he said.

A formal address read by the town clerk, D. Llewellyn Griffiths, referred to the Canadian association with Aldershot during two wars and concluded:

"This vast Dominion and her virile sons have earned a high place in the brotherhood of arms and we in this military borough are proud to recognize the kinship."

Gen. Montague, replying, said: "Aldershot has been more than a place of bricks and mortar, training grounds and huts to us. It has been the centre of our life in England."

No New Action By Meat Stores

There were no further developments in Edmonton on Wednesday in the threatened closing of butcher shops in protest against the Dominion government's rationing system. A few of the meat retailers remained closed but a survey showed that most of them were awaiting further action by the butchers.

A meeting will be called on Sunday to discuss problems of organization which have arisen, but A. F. Dreger, northern Alberta representative of the Retail Merchants Association, who has been asked by representative butchers to oversee the meeting, will be unable to announce its location until later.

Central Alberta butchers are meeting in Camrose on Thursday night to discuss their share in the Dominion-wide protest.

9th Victory Loan Funds Urgently Needed by Govt.

Opening guns of Canada's 9th Victory Loan drive for $1,500,000,000 were fired Wednesday when F. E. Osborne of the payroll savings section, National War Finance Committee, Ottawa, explained the government's post-war commitments and the pressing need of the funds represented in the figures of Canada's largest loan to date, to members of the Edmonton branch of the National War Finance Committee at a luncheon meeting at the Macdonald hotel.

An unofficial estimate of expenditures covering war and rehabilitation and expenses of running the government over a period of from Nov. 1, 1945 to Nov. 1, 1946, would total $3,900,000,000, said Mr. Osborne. Broken down, these figures would represent expenditures for pay and allowances, gratuities, re-establishment credits, $900,000,000.

CREDIT FOR EUROPE

Nearly 100 Meat Stores In Montreal Open Doors

By The Canadian Press

Nearly 100 stores in Montreal, most of which sell meat in one form or another, opened their doors today after being closed yesterday or announcing that they would be closed today as the result of visits from vigilante groups seeking to enforce a strike in protest against meat rationing.

Majority of the stores which opened during the morning closed at noon, however, in their regular Wednesday afternoon holiday.

Most of the stores, which opened and said they would remain open unless violence forced them to close, were of the chain-store variety.

NO VIOLENCE

There were no immediate reports of any violence. The chain stores

Third Man to Win Double Honor

New Zealander Wins Second Victoria Cross

AUCKLAND, N.Z., Sept. 26.—(CP)—Award of a bar to the Victoria Cross, the empire's highest gallantry decoration, to Capt. Charles Hazlett Upham of the New Zealand expeditionary force was announced today by Defence Minister Fred Jones.

Capt. Upham won the cross originally for bravery during operations in Crete, in May, 1941. The bar to the decoration was awarded for outstanding gallantry in the western Egyptian desert during an attack on Elruweisat Ridge in July, 1942.

Capt. Upham was the 161st man to win the VC in the Second Great War. Twelve were Canadians.

Only two other men have been awarded a bar to the prized decoration—equivalent to receiving another VC—since it was instituted in 1856, and it was the first double award of the Second Great War.

At El Ruweisat Ridge in western Egypt on the night of July 14, 1942, in spite of being twice wounded — once when crossing open ground to inspect his forward troops and again when he destroyed a truckload of German soldiers with hand grenades— Capt. Upham remained with his men to take part in the final assault. Leading his company in the face of withering machine-gun and tank fire Upham cheered them on above the roar of battle to capture the objective.

Sifot through the elbow and with a broken arm after destroying a German tank and several guns with grenades, Capt. Upham went to a forward position and brought back some of his men who had been isolated.

Exhausted by pain and weak from loss of blood, he was taken to a regimental dressing station but immediately the flow of blood had been staunched he returned to his men and remained with them throughout day-long artillery and mortar fire. Severely wounded and unable to move, Capt. Upham fell into enemy hands when the company he commanded had been reduced to six men.

Capt. Upham was released among other prisoners when Germany capitulated.

Ration of Liquor Stays Unchanged

No immediate change in the monthly allowances to permit holders for liquor or beer is contemplated in Alberta, J. A. King, chairman of the Alberta Liquor Control Board, said Wednesday.

Alberta received increased the monthly ration to individual permit holders to 52 ounces spirits, 26 ounces wine, and 24 pints of beer.

Racial Rioting Is Reported Flaring In North Johore

SINGAPORE, Sept. 26.—(BUP)—Inter-racial rioting is reported officially today.

Authorities said the clashes in Johore were coupled with demands for an independent government, "led by and for the united races of Chinese, Malays and Indians."

The Communist Malay party was charged with instigating the clashes. It was sponsored by the Japanese in 1942 for the ostensible purpose of assisting them against the Chinese.

Large New Hotel Is Planned Here

Edmonton, in the near future may have a large new up-to-date hotel.

In Montreal, J. C. Udd, president of the Ford Hotels Company, one of the largest hotel-operating companies on the North American continent, has stated that his organization is considering construction of a hotel here.

It is believed that the company is seeking to obtain property for the hotel on 102 street, immediately south of the Dominion Motors Building and opposite the Cenotaph. It is understood that negotiations have been underway for some time with the city to obtain the property, which is sought also by the Alberta Government Telephones for a new building.

The government has been offered property for its new building immediately to the south of the court house and across the street north of the city telephone building.

It is thought that should the company obtain the property it desires that construction would not commence until manpower and materials were available.

OTTAWA, Sept. 26.—(CP)—The Commons last night disposed of two motions of non-confidence in the government—one without a recorded vote—and appeared ready to vote on adoption of the Speech from the Throne when a Progressive Conservative Party member presented a new amendment.

By a vote of 163 to 57, the commons defeated the Progressive Conservative party's motion which accused the government of failing to provide proper demobilization, reconversion and housing measures.

A Social Credit sub-amendment which added that the government had failed to provide for a prosperous peace for Canada and had failed to give Canadians a proper monetary policy was defeated without a recorded vote.

Some Montreal Butcher Stores Open as Usual

began operating despite an announcement from most of them last night that they would remain closed.

In addition to the chain stores, the meat department of the T. Eaton Company remained open in uptown Montreal.

A few private butcher stores also were open. A number of grocer stores which were closed by vigilante groups yesterday remained shut today.

Meanwhile, fish stores on St. Lawrence Boulevard in central Montreal, forced to close yesterday, were all re-opened today.

PLANTS STAY OPEN

Two of four large meat-packing plants in the city remained open today, with operations in each of the two still open reduced by about 50 per cent from normal.

So rigid was the shop-closing movement in the Montreal suburb of Mount Royal that authorities there telegraphed Prime Minister Mackenzie King last night asking federal intervention because "all stores in our town have been forced to close by mob methods. We are powerless to maintain order."

The Prices Board head, Donald Gordon, speaking for publication in Vancouver, characteristically pulled no punches, offered the public—butchers included—no alternative.

NO CANCELLATION

"There is no escape," he declared, "and no possibility of cancellation of orders imposed."

His statement came late Tuesday while in Montreal gangs of anti-ration "vigilantes"—said to be butchers aligned in close-your-shop-or-else formation against the rationing system—toured the metropolitan area of the Dominion's greatest city extending the meat shop closedown.

The town escaped violence but few butchers, even those who asked for police protection, failed to get it when unwilling to prefer charges of intimidation, appeared willing to buck the policy of the vigilantes.

PRESSURE CLAIMED

Some butchers claimed they closed under pressure, while Montreal police, trailing the vigilante gangs, declared the owners were not co-operating and that police must have identification of alleged intimidators.

Spread of the strike to grocery stores came with some in Montreal's north end and in the Verdun caught vigilantes' attention because "they were selling tinned meat."

Meanwhile at Ottawa, though there was no indication of any definite action planned, officials left no doubt of the government's power to act should the strike developments make it advisable in the government's view. Under the War Measures Act, still in force, the government could take over closed stores and operate them under public control, using the famed RCMP to guard them if necessary.

Some retailers in other centres also kept their stores closed. This was the case in Victoria, in Edmonton, Lethbridge and Camrose in Alberta and in some smaller Nova Scotia towns.

In other centres dealers had voted to delay until Oct. 1 any strike action in support of their claim that meat rationing was too bound up in "red tape" through use of coupons and token and other regulations. In other centres protest meetings are still to be held at which decisions on procedure will be taken.

torn countries such as Great Britain, France and other nations which in the past have merited assistance.

This, continued Mr. Osborne, in Canada's relationship with these countries was not only humanitarian but in the long range view protected Canada's position as an exporting nation. These expenditures formerly came under mutual aid or lend lease, but now have taken the form of credits to deserving nations, he explained.

Repatriation of troops, cost of occupation forces, cleaning up outside contracts for munitions and supply, providing hospitalization, food and clothing, until demobilization and continuing cost of equipment for the air force would cost another $900,000,000.

ORDINARY EXPENSES

Ordinary expenses of the government and public debt charges would be $480,000,000; family allowances, $250,000,000; payment to provinces (in lieu of abandoned taxes), $85,000,000; ordinary expenses of government, $400,000,000.

Mr. Osborne told his audience that from these figures it could be clearly seen that Canada was more than ever depending upon a quick and early response to the call for these funds.

He pointed out the unequalled solidity of investing in the resources of one of the world's richest and most fortunate countries, and expressed confidence that the loan would be subscribed without difficulty, "especially taking into account the magnificent response of Canadians to every one of Canada's past eight Victory Loan drives."

been sidetracked. Britain and China were reported to have joined the United States in opposing consideration of the proposal at this session of the foreign ministers.

"SAME RIGHTS AS ITALY"

Outside the conference proper Evatt voiced Australia's demand for a "fair go" in the discussion of world peace. He said British foreign secretary Ernest Bevin had been "very prominent in advocating claims put forward by Australia and other active belligerent countries" claiming equal rights in the peace councils.

"Our invitation to the one session of Sept. 19 is recognition of our rights—the same rights extended to Italy", Evatt observed. "Surely we are entitled to be treated differently than defeated enemies".

A Soviet source confirmed that Soviet foreign commissar V. M. Molotov had presented a memorandum to the foreign ministers' conference urging establishment of the Pacific council on grounds that the time had arrived for a "joint effort to secure the peace".

Molotov appeared inclined to criticize American handling of the occupation of Japan and desirous of gaining a voice in the matter. He suggested that Britain and China also join the proposed control council.

AMERICAN CHAIRMAN

Molotov's memorandum was reported to have acknowledged the dominant part played by the United States in the Pacific war and suggested that the chairman of the proposed commission be an American.

One Soviet source said Molotov did not try to get immediate action on the creation of the commission but only presented the memorandum to get on record with the Russian viewpoint.

U.S. secretary of state James F. Byrnes refused to discuss the Soviet memorandum on grounds that Pacific affairs were not on the agenda for the present Big Five meeting.

Though Australia also has been anxious to force consideration of Japan at the present meeting, a source close to Australian Foreign Minister Herbert Evatt said he had no advance knowledge of the Soviet move.

BALKAN "BREAK"

Some hope for solution of Balkan problems confronting the council was seen in a Budapest announcement that the United States has offered to recognize the Soviet-supported government of Hungary. The American offer was the first break in the heretofore solid Anglo-American front against Soviet-backed governments in southeast Europe.

However, the London Daily Telegraph said the course of the foreign ministers' meeting as a whole had been bitterly disappointing.

On most of the subjects discussed by the council, Russia has differed from the rest, the editorial said and "it is clear that Russia is edging away more and more from an international solution of problems towards their regional treatment."

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26—(BUP)—President Truman said today he never had received official notice that any of the interested United powers were dissatisfied with the occupation control of Japan under a single supreme command, Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

adian people and I am certain the response will be no less in this post-war drive than on any former occasion. Canadians, I am confident, fully realize the considerable importance contained in the successful floating of this loan, which is open for subscription to October 22", Mr. Osborne concluded.

structed on an equal share basis for the section lying inside the province between the Dominion and provincial governments. The Dominion pays the full cost for the section inside the Northwest Territories.

The total cost has been estimated at $2,000,000 with the road intending from Grimshaw to the area of Yellowknife and other northern areas.

AGREEMENT SIGNED

The Alberta government has already signed the joint agreement for constructing the road and returned it to Ottawa. As soon as Ottawa signs, the work of brushing will begin.

The 250 miles in Alberta will be divided into five sections of about 50 miles each, with each section the responsibility of one contractor.

Tenders will be called for just as soon as the engineering branch of the department of public works has completed plans and specifications. Work on these will commence as soon as the Dominion government signs the joint agreement, Mr. Fallow said.

A great deal of heavy power equipment will be used to build the road and this will need to be moved to construction sites before the thaw is out of the ground in the spring.

that a nation-wide walkout by the union would involve 250,000 workers.

He said the union's executive council "authorized the complete stoppage.

While a wave of post-war labor disputes left more than 350,000 workers idle and crippled business and industry across the country, a single strike in New York disrupted business, kept hundreds of thousands from their jobs and virtually closed the metropolis' $1,000,000,000 garment industry.

SPREADING STRIKE

A steadily spreading strike of some 15,000 AFL elevator men and building maintenance workers in approximately 1,600 office and loft buildings was responsible for the paralysing of business and industrial activity. The walkout, which began Monday, affected an estimated 1,500,000 persons.

Workers refused to pass picket lines or would not climb long flights of stairs to skyscraper lofts.

Meanwhile, in Detroit, the conference between the CIO United Automobile Workers and Chrysler Corporation on the union's demand for a 30 per cent wage hike was shrouded in secrecy.

IN THIRD DAY

The big lumber strike in the Pacific Northwest, involving more than 60,000 AFL workers in a wage dispute, was in its third day and there were no immediate indications a settlement was near. The workers got advice from the AFL Sailors' Union of the Pacific, and its members would not sail ships with strike-bound lumber. The walkout halted lumber operations in five states—California, Oregon, Idaho, Washington and Montana.

Scores of coal mines in Pennsylvania and West Virginia were closed, as 30,000 workers remained off their jobs in supporting supervisors in their demand for recognition of their union.

At yesterday's opening parley in Chicago on the oil workers strike, the positions of the several oil companies and the union were outlined to the federal conciliators.

In Detroit, where some 90,000 workers are away from their jobs over labor disputes, it was disclosed that the UAW union had asked the National Labor Relations Board for a strike vote among 80,000 Chrysler workers.

Japan Civilians Will Get Army Food, Clothing

quartermaster's branches of the army and navy.

These probably will be studied by Allied intelligence agents in the hope some hitherto secret Japanese weapon may be found. The items include everything from 150-millimeter mortars to a 1937 medium tank.

The order directing the turning over of rations for use of the civilian population directed that all army and navy food depots, all clothing depots for both services, and all transportation facilities held by the army and navy be turned over to the Japanese home ministry forthwith.

The first veterans of the European war to join in the occupation of Japan landed at Yokohama today.

LEAVE FOR CHINA

From Okinawa came word that a large task force has just left that island base for the China coast to land two Marine divisions in the Tientsin area.

Chinese military commanders are scheduled to accept the surrender of Japanese invasion forces in the Tientsin area Sunday.

Meantime, the Domei News Agency, official mouthpiece of the Japanese government during the war, was on the way toward complete dissolution; Gen. MacArthur already has ordered it divorced from government control and favoritism.

Its president, Inosuke Forune, had decided to propose his own resignation and those of other executive directors at the next meeting of Domei's board later this week.

PLANS DISSOLUTION

Foruno also will propose dissolution of Domei, effective as soon as a free news agency being formed by Tokyo's three main newspapers, Mainichi, Asahi and Yomiuri, has begun operating.

A member of Japan's house of peers, meanwhile, proposed in an interview that Emperor Hirohito withdraw from all political affairs, in order to eliminate "the clique around the throne" and thus make democracy possible.

Marquis Yoshichika Tokugawa said that if the Emperor withdrew to the background as a spiritual adviser and avoided political matters, there would be no political clique surrounding him.

Reorganization of the Japanese agency through which occupation headquarters rules the conquered country also began today, to shake off clogging domination by Japanese foreign office personnel.

COUNCIL APPROVES

The Japanese privy council approved the reorganization at a special session in the presence of Emperor Hirohito yesterday. The latter reorganization was one factor which forced the resignation of Mamoru Shigemitsu, the foreign minister who signed the surrender document for Japan. Shigemitsu had supported current bureaucrats in the liaison office.

Japanese government sources said the organization, which retains its present name, will be headed by a president of ministerial rank whose appointment will be approved by Gen. MacArthur. There will be two vice-presidents, one the concurrent vice-foreign minister.

It was announced only today that the new vice-foreign minister is Tatuso Kawai, a member of the Shidehara peaceful clique. He succeeded Shinichi Matzumato, who resigned.

Paralysis-Infested Section of Boston Is Cleared by DDT

BOSTON, Sept. 26.—(AP)—An infantile paralysis infested section of greater Boston apparently has been freed of the disease by what city health authorities said they believed was the first hand-sprayings in the United States of a large area with DDT insecticide. Dr. Frederick J. Bailey, health commissioner, said there had not been a single new case reported from the park district since it was sprayed on Aug. 29.

China Communist Troops Reported Attacking Japanese

CHUNGKING, Sept. 26.—(AP)—China's minister of information, Dr. K. C. Wu, said today that Communist troops in China are attacking the Japanese, in violation of the Chinese central government's disarmament program.

"The government has a plan for accepting the surrender of Japanese forces in China," Dr. Wu said. "Orders were issued to Japanese commanders that before the arrival of government troops they were to maintain peace and order in their respective areas.

"If the Communist troops obey instructions of the central government and stay in their own areas, then there will be no conflict."

on the aldermanic and school board candidates will be made shortly.

It has also been announced that Lt.-Col. E. Brown, MM, ED, a former alderman, will seek election to the aldermanic board as a soldier candidate. Other soldier candidates will be nominated.

On Tuesday Mrs. Julia Kiniski, 9660 99A street, announced her intention of seeking a place on the aldermanic board as an Independent.

ELECTION DAY

Election day is set by the city charter provision for Wednesday, Nov. 7, with nominating day set for Monday, Oct. 29. Nominations must be filled not later than 12 o'clock noon on that date.

Polling hours this year will be the same as last year when the polls opened at 9 a.m. and closed at 8 p.m.

At last Monday night's city council meeting a campaign committee, consisting of Aldermen A. Bisset, KC, Fred J. Mitchell, S. S. Bowcott, James H. Ogilvie and Sidney Parsons, was appointed to deal with the locating of polling stations, appointment of deputy returning officers and poll clerks, to set their rate of pay, and also to determine whether or not civic sponsored campaign meetings would be held this election. This committee will meet next Monday.

PARSONS MAY RUN

Rumor has been busy with Aid. Parsons' name as a likely candidate for the mayoralty. Mr. Parsons announced some time ago that he had been urged by many supporters to contest the mayoralty. He is still considering the proposal, and will likely make a definite announcement in the near future.

A spokesman for the Independent Labor party stated Wednesday that no candidates would be nominated by that party, but the organization would be prepared to co-operate with any progressive party in contesting the election.

CCF STANDS ASIDE

At a recent meeting of the membership of the Edmonton section of the CCF it was decided to refrain from entering candidates in the municipal election.

Whether or not the Labor-Progressive party will nominate candidates this year is also being considered. If this organization does not contest the election as a party it is certain it will join with the progressive group organization.

Besides the mayoralty there will be five vacancies on the aldermanic board, and four on each of the public and separate school boards in the forthcoming election. If Aid. Parsons decides to contest the mayoralty a sixth vacancy will occur on the aldermanic board, as he has still one year of his two-year term to serve. He would have to resign from council to contest the mayoralty.

Get Detailed Description South Killer

CALGARY, Sept. 26.—(CP)—A detailed description of the man who battered Lum Yuen Ing, 65-year-old Chinese fruit merchant, to death in his little shop here shortly after 7:30 Monday evening, is now in possession of city police.

Valuable details which give an almost photographic description of the wanted man were given today by two witnesses who were in the store shortly before the attack took place.

Piecing these together with information previously given, police are now able to describe the murderer as follows:

- Age, from 25 to 30 years.
- Height, about 5 feet, 10 inches.
- Complexion, medium.
- Hair, brown and brushed straight back.
- Face, long and thin, but features handsome.
- Build, sturdy but not fat, possibly weighs about 170 pounds.

Neatly dressed in a brown spring and fall coat of wool material, slightly darker than a polo coat. He was wearing a brown suit with a dotted stripe in the weave, and black pointed shoes. He had no hat.

• Names of the two new witnesses were not divulged by police but one was in the store at 6:30 p.m. and the other at 6:50 p.m. Both had ample time to scrutinize the man thoroughly.

The next door baker who came to aid the Chinese greengrocer but was then forced by the gunman to open the till and rifle the notes, said the killer spoke good English, though with a slight accent. It is Mr. Stewart's belief that the murderer is of central European origin, basing his belief partly on his clothes and partly on his cast of features.

Trains Will Halt During Time Change

MONTREAL, Sept. 26.—(AP)—All railway trains in Canada will stop for an hour at approximately 2 a.m. Sunday in the time zone in which they are operating, to make the switch back to standard time with the least confusion, it was learned yesterday.

The system in getting the railways back to standard time from the daylight saving time now prevailing throughout the war, is the same as will be used in the United States at the same time, and the same is was used in reverting to standard time after the first great war, railway officials said.

Under the system to be followed, each train in operation at 2 a.m. Sunday will continue on to its the nearest train-order office or station—and remain there for one hour, moving on again on its regular schedule after "The time has caught up to it again."

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26—(AP)—President Truman yesterday signed legislation returning the United States to standard time, effective at 2 a.m., Sunday, Sept. 30.

Northern Alberta formations, whose homes are in this district.

A full program has been arranged by provincial civic and military authorities for the welcome to be accorded the returning men.

ON PLATFORM

Only close relatives of the returnees will be permitted to greet them on the station platform and arrangements are being made to facilitate the meeting by having relatives grouped in alphabetical sections, so that the men can find them without delay.

The men will be given about half an hour at the station with their relatives, when the group will "fall in" in military formation in front of the CNR station. From there they will march to 101 street and along it to Jasper Ave.

The salute will be taken in front of Eaton's store on 101 street by His Honor Lt.-Gov. J. C. Bowen, Premier Ernest Manning and Mayor John W. Fry.

PARADE ROUTE

The parade will turn east on Jasper avenue and then to 99 street and north to the Market Square where short addresses of welcome will be made by not more than three provincial and civic authorities.

Thereafter the men will march back to the CNR station where they will break off, pick up their baggage and will be given transportation to any part of the city they and their relatives might wish to go.

Arrangements have been made for the entertainment of troops who must remain in Edmonton awaiting transportation to their district homes. Forms of entertainment will be free dances, free tickets to movie theatres and drives around the city.

Men from these units who have already, returned will be given an opportunity to fall in with their former comrades and march with them.

The same program is planned for all units returning to the city.

Well-informed sources early said such a meeting—unprecedented in modern Japan—was being arranged but had cited no date.

112 Are Nominated For B.C. Election

VANCOUVER, Sept. 26.—(CP)—One hundred and twelve candidates have been chosen to date for the Oct. 25 British Columbia general elections with only eight more days left before the Oct. 4 deadline for nominations.

The coalition organization, supported by Liberals and Progressive Conservatives, has selected 23 candidates and likely will name another 14 as it seeks re-election of the government of Premier Hart.

The CCF has named 48 candidates, one for each of the seats at stake in the 41 constituencies. There are three constituencies electing two members, and two represented by three MLA's.

The Labor Progressives have 16 nominees in the field. Others nominated are six Social Credit; three Socialist-Labor, two Independent Progressive Conservatives, two Independents, one Labor and one Democrat.

The coalitionists are not opposing former Premier T. D. Pattullo, who is seeking re-election as an independent. He won as a Liberal in 1941 but did not support the coalition government formed after the Liberals failed to get a working majority in the house in the 1941 general voting.

Douglas Warns Of Fight Ahead On Legislation

sociation to have the province's Mineral Taxation Act, Farm Security Act and Local Government Board (special powers) Act disallowed.

"I would have liked to speak to all of you at the same time, but the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation have refused to allow me that privilege on the ground that my remarks will probable be political in character. Therefore this publicly-owned radio service is being denied me at a time when I wish to discuss with you a matter of vital importance to our province," he said.

NO ELABORATION

He did not elaborate upon the steps which the province may take should the petitioners be successful, but emphasized that the federal government did not have to entertain such petitions, having the power to refer the corporations to the courts. Apparently reference to the courts was not to be the procedure followed.

"Whatever the reason may be, the fact remains that these companies have not challenged the constitutionality of Saskatchewan's legislation but they have boldly and without shame asked the federal government arbitrarily to disallow this legislation despite the fact that the legislature which passed it was given a mandate to do so by an overwhelming majority of the people of Saskatchewan.

"If any corporation thinks that the provincial government has exceeded its jurisdiction, they can appeal to the law courts and have a decision rendered. But here we have two corporation which have the temerity to ask the federal government simply to veto certain provincial acts without any right of appeal being granted to the province concerned."

MINERAL TAXATION

The Mineral Taxation Act provides that owners of mineral lands not being developed and being held for speculative or other "non-social purposes" must pay a tax of three cents an acre, the tax no longer applying if the lands are developed.

The Local Government Board (Special Powers) Act provides that where a city, town or municipality gets into financial difficulty with the bondholders, both parties are bound to accept the decision of the board, but the mortgage companies and financial institutions "don't like legislation that works both ways."

Mr. Douglas said the Farm Security Act protects the interests of farmers in debt, making them free from foreclosure and eviction on their home quarter-sections of land.

The federal government has "no valid reason" or disallowing the acts in question.

"Let me here issue a word of warning to those who are moving heaven and earth to have this legislation disallowed," said Mr. Douglas. "They are dealing with a government fresh from the people with a mandate to carry out the people's wishes. Those wishes will be carried out.

OTHER RESOURCES

"If these vested interests succeed in persuading the federal government to disallow this legislation, we still have other resources at our disposal and we shall not hesitate to use them. My object in speaking to you tonight is to let you know that the government is not prepared to retreat one single inch."

Both Mr. Malik and headquarters were silent on what was discussed Monday. A request for answers to submitted written questions brought the reply from a Malik aide, "too busy."

British Meteor Jet Fighter Recently Brought to Canada Powered By New Turbo Fuel

A new turbo fuel consisting largely of kerosene is powering the British "Meteor" jet fighter plane recently brought to Canada by the RCAF. This is the first jet aircraft to be seen in Canada.

The power plant of the British plane is a Rolls-Royce gas turbine engine. It was developed by Air Commodore Whittle of the RAF and early in the war specimens of the jet engine were sent to U.S. and formed the basis for jet propulsion units now being built there. The Meteor will be used for research, particularly winterization tests in connection with lubrication, cold starting and aerodynamic problems encountered at low temperatures.

DEVELOPED BY IMPERIAL

The special blend of kerosene and other petroleum fractions being used to power the Meteor in Canada was developed in the Sarnia laboratories and refinery of Imperial Oil Limited to meet British specifications. This was accomplished early this summer and shipments were sent to Montreal and Ottawa to await the arrival of the aircraft. It was the first such fuel used in Canada in aircraft, and may herald a new era in fuels not only for flying but also for other uses.

Scientists say such a development could not take place for many years, but that even today jet aircraft flying on kerosene are offering competition to propeller-driven aircraft flying on 100-octane aviation gasoline, and for some purposes such as very high speeds the jet aircraft are undeniably superior.

PARALLEL DEVELOPMENT

A parallel development is of greatest importance. The gas turbine engine, also called the "turbo jet," shows great promise as a source of power aside from its use in jet planes. It is one of the most efficient engines known; experiments now being conducted indicate it may be used commonly in future for land and sea transportation as well as air.

Jet propulsion is radically different from the piston engines which drive our automobiles and most of our aircraft today. The "Meteor" is literally shoved forward through the air by a tornado of hot gases which escape behind it. Fuel and compressed air burn together and produce a high-temperature, high pressure exhaust gas. This escapes through a jet; the sudden expansion forces the aircraft forward. A "turbo" compressor is used for compressing the air, hence the name "turbo jet" engine.

The action of the turbo jet might be likened to reaction of a garden hose nozzle when full pressure of water is turned on suddenly. The water sprays out, and the nozzle jumps back as a result of the sudden pressure.

A turbo fuel must produce as much heat as possible. Petroleum hanks higher than most fuels in this respect as indicated by the production of 20,000 BTU's (British Thermal Units) of heat per pound as compared with 14,000 BTU's for coal, 11,500 for alcohol and 6,500 for TNT. There is no need for high-octane fuels; in the jet the fuel is simply squirted into the combustion chamber as a liquid, under moderate pressure. It burns continuously, as in an oil burner. All that is required is enough heat to produce large quantities of hot gases.

SPECIAL PROBLEMS

However, there are some special problems. Jet fuel must burn in a small space with great heat. Sufficient energy must be packed in the fuel to give the aircraft as long a range as possible. That energy must be readily available so that the engine can respond quickly to increased demands for power. The fuel must burn with a clean flame so as not to leave deposits that would destroy the delicate balance of the engine. It must burn in extremely cold places, for instance in the stratosphere at 90 below zero or colder.

A blend of petroleum products consisting largely of kerosene answers most of these problems. This fuel has another very happy quality: it is likely to reduce greatly the number of deaths in flying accidents, because it does not vaporize and explode easily as does gasoline.

Thus kerosene, almost the sole useful product of petroleum before the advent of the gasoline motor, would seem to be coming back into its own. Canada's petroleum research scientists are not worried about the possibilities of a great demand for this fuel. Although barely enough products of the kerosene type are being produced now to meet present needs, the industry is famed for its versatility, and a way will be found to divert a greater part of the crude to these products just as greater amounts of gasoline were produced in the past.

Two Amendments Are Defeated During Debate

pose a new amendment. Col. Ross said he presented his amendment as a result of the government's wheat policy announced last week.

The amendment said that pending the establishment of more equitable prices for farm products, consideration should be given to setting prices at levels not less than 90 per cent of parity.

Parity is considered that point where prices for farm products are in fair relation to the price the farmer has to pay for goods and services. In some cases the period of 1926 to 1929 has been chosen to fix a parity for farm prices.

Under the wheat policy, the government undertakes to pay not less than $1 a bushel for wheat during the five-year-period ending Sept. 30, 1945. The current export price has been fixed at $1.55 a bushel.

Participating in the debate prior to the taking of the vote were W. C. S. McLure (PC-Queen's), T. J. Bentley (CCF-Swift Current) and C. W. Hodgson (PC-Victoria, Ont).

WEST MEMBERS SPEAK

At the earlier sitting members from Western Canada held the floor and from them came suggestions for changes in Canada's monetary, banking, immigration and agricultural policies.

J. H. Blackmore (SC-Lethbridge) house leader for the Social Credit party in the last parliament, said his party favored putting the British Empire and the British Commonwealth on a Social Credit basis so as to make it economically self-sufficient.

He expounded the theories of Social Credit, explaining how money could be created debt free, how inflation and deflation could be avoided, and how competitive trade—termed by him as the cause of wars—could be replaced by a system of trade mutually advantageous to all.

Among speakers following him was Hazen Argue, 24, youngest member of the commons, who urged that credit unions be given the same privileges as chartered banks so people might again own the banks instead of the banks "owning the people."

Other speakers were Norman Jaques (SC-Wetaskiwin), Benoit Michaud (L-Restigouche - Madawaska), and Col. Douglas Harkness (PC-Calgary East), who urged that Canada immediately adopt a policy of restricted immigration.

ANNOUNCE ASSISTANTS

Prior to resumption of the debate, Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced the appointment of three parliamentary assistants. R. W. Mayhew (L-Victoria) becomes assistant to Finance Minister Ilsley, while W. C. Macdonald (L-Halifax) and Lt.-Col. Hugues (Bob) Lapointe (L-Lotbiniere) become assistants to Defence Minister Abbott.

Mr. Blackmore said the British have a great responsibility to discharge in the world, and the British Commonwealth, on a Social Credit basis, could "withstand any enemy on earth or any combination of enemies". "No combination could then destroy it politically or economically".

The Social Credit party favored full understanding and co-operation with the British peoples, and it favored co-operation with world organizations.

"We are ready to co-operate", he said. "We are ready to discharge our full responsibility, but we are not willing to surrender our sovereignty to any international or other external force on earth".

SPEAKS ON BANKS

Mr. Argue, speaking like a veteran member of the Commons, said that banks first were organized for the business of making loans, when they were in business in the early years their assets were composed almost entirely of loans. "But starting about the year 1930, the structure of bank assets changed enormously until today of more than $5,000,000,000 of bank assets something more than $2,700,000,000 are invested in government bonds and in industrial stocks.

"The banks have not been able to survive in what we have been led to believe is free enterprise. They are today a leech on all the people of Canada to the extent that they have that amount of investments in Dominion government bonds and industrial stocks.

"The banks are no longer content to control merely the currency, the life blood of the nation; they want to own and control the whole Canadian economy. We of the CCF believe it is time that the people of Canada owned the banks and not the banks owning the people, as they do at present."

The extension of chartered bank privileges to credit unions would bring about this change.

NEED MORE PEOPLE

Col. Harkness said Canada has not enough people to make "Our great transportation systems economically sound; to make for a well balanced economy, properly to develop our natural resources, or to support our multitude of governments—municipal, provincial and Dominion—in the manner in which they have become accustomed."

Immigration should be restricted to the extent that a man could be assimilated in Canada. Experience had shown that orientals could not be assimilated and "I believe we should rigidly close the doors against them."

"My views are not founded upon racial prejudice, or racial grounds at all, but rather on common sense, observation and a strong desire to build a great and united Canada."

"I believe that even members of the CCF will admit that 99 per cent. of the white population of Canada will not inter-marry with orientals. Those few who do, and their children, are exposed to all the cruelties and hardships, and humiliations of social ostracism."

URGES CANADIANISM

He called for a "Hard pushed publicity campaign to foster Canadianism." There had been too much hankering back to racial origins and this had retarded the growth of a national spirit in Canada.

Mr. Jaques said under a social credit system production costs could be reduced without lowering wages. The ability to do that was the acid test of any system and the CCF had not shown that it could be done under a socialist system.

"The reason the CCF won in Saskatchewan was that they managed to convince the farmers that they would not be socialized under the CCF," said Mr. Jaques.

In discussions with many farmers who were CCF supporters he had heard them all say that they supported the CCF because socialism would not apply to the farmers.

Prominence given the CCF on the radio was out of all proportion to the strength of the party.

RADIO PUBLICITY

"I hardly ever listen to the news on the radio, but while I hear Mr. Coldwell's views on this or that," he said, "I hardly ever hear Mr. Low (Social Credit leader). I heard very little of the views of the prime minister on the radio. I don't think there is enough done to put his views before the people."

Mr. Michaud said the government should finance the building of homes. He disagreed with criticism of housing regulations which prevented property owners from evicting their tenants. These regulations were justified by the emergency situations.

Some speakers had called for tax reductions similar to those made in Australia. Mr. Michaud quoted comparative tax rates to show that even after a 12½ per cent reduction Australian taxes on low incomes were still higher than Canadian.

Pegging of Wheat "Jolt" to Farmers

OTTAWA, Sept. 26.—(CP)—Announcement of a pegged wheat export price of $1.55 a bushel and a $1 floor under deliveries for the next five years was a "distinct jolt" to the people of the west, T. J. Bentley, CCF member for Swift Current constituency said last night in the commons.

Westerners did not object to a limit on the export price. The jolt was that the minimum price guaranteed on "authorized deliveries" meant a continuance of the quota system. "We are not opposed to the quota system", he said.

But the provision of a minimum price on the quota system might mean that the open market price would hover around the minimum of $1 and if there were low grades the farmers might get so little they would be unable to finance their operations.

Mr. Bentley asked the government to guarantee the farmers a minimum of $1.25 a bushel for all wheat produced or up to 280,000,000 bushels and give assurance that the wheat board would continue in operation and market all wheat.

The British "Meteor" jet fighter plane now in Canada for experimental work by the R.C.A.F. is the first plane of its kind to be seen by Canadians. The power plant of this revolutionary type aircraft is a Rolls Royce Derwent jet turbine engine. The special Intava Turbo Fuel which is burned in the engine was produced in the laboratory and refinery of Imperial Oil Limited and is the first such fuel used in aircraft in Canada. Tubercular Hospitals

The Edmonton branch of the Canadian Legion takes a sound position in protesting to Ottawa the use of the former Jesuit College as a tubercular hospital for Indians.

As the Legion points out, there are abandoned American military hospitals at Dawson Creek and Fort St. John which could be taken over quite satisfactorily for this purpose.

The Indians deserve every consideration. But this latter proposal would appear to meet their case.

Meanwhile there is a very real and pressing need for a tubercular hospital in Edmonton for servicemen and ex-servicemen. These patients, at present, are scattered throughout the other hospitals in the city, which is not according to the best hospital practice.

It is suggested, then, that the former Jesuit College be used for tubercular servicemen and that tubercular Indians be treated at Dawson Creek or Fort St. John.

This suggestion has the merit of conforming to the fact that while the northern hospitals are quite suitable for the treatment of Indians, in point of geography, they are manifestly unsuitable, for the same reason, for the treatment of servicemen.

The Legion, in this case, has pointed out what appears to be the obvious and logical solution to a grave difficulty.

Firemen's Hours

There need be, and should be, little delay in implementing the plebiscite taken in 1942 to the effect that the end of the war should see the establishment of a three-platoon system for the men of the Edmonton fire department.

Both as a matter of justice to the men and as a means of ensuring the greater efficiency of the department, the rearrangement of hours should take place at the earliest possible moment.

At present, Edmonton firemen work in two shifts, a day shift of ten hours from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. and a night shift of fourteen hours from 6 p.m. to 8 a.m.

It will require 45 additional firemen at a cost of $100,000 a year to initiate a three shift system of eight hours per shift.

The additional men should soon be available if they are not available already. The cost is a minor matter if this will increase the efficiency of the department.

The latter point is obvious. Firemen, doubtless, have many leisure hours while they are on duty. But when they are fighting a fire, they are sometimes engaged in hard, unpleasant and hazardous work for as much as ten or twelve hours at a stretch.

It stands to reason that no man can do his best in a skilled and dangerous job if he call should come near the end of a ten or fourteen hour shift. To ask a man who has been on duty for fourteen hours to go out and undertake arduous duties upon which human life may depend is unfair and unreasonable.

The principle of the 1942 plebiscite should be effected with the least possible delay.

Why Ration Meat?

Parliament on Monday was given a detailed statement of the facts and figures which led to the reimposition of meat rationing in Canada. The picture is not a pleasant one. It shatters utterly any fond supposition that since the fighting has stopped the people in Britain and the liberated countries must be faring very much better, and are perhaps not too badly off. And it makes clear that if Canada is to do the part it has promised to do, some method of cutting down home consumption has to be employed.

To keep its commitments the Dominion must export 310 million pounds of meat in the last four months of this year. That will bring the year's total up to 789 millions. Which shows that in the preceding eight months we sent over only 479 millions. At that rate the year's total would have been about 718 millions, 71 millions less than required. Obviously something had to be done, or Allied relief would fall short and Canada would be to blame.

As for the notion that there is plenty of meat available to keep up heavier shipments and also allow unrestricted consumption in Canada—which has been widely and emphatically stated to be the case—the facts are that at the first of September meat in storage in Canada was only 49 million pounds, though the packing plants were working at record speed. A year before there were 70 million pounds in the storage places; and when rationing was discontinued in February of 1944, the storage supplies amounted to 150 million pounds. So much for the stories about bulging storage warehouses and unconsumable supplies when the second rationing order went out.

Getting down to cases, Mr. Ilsley said that in France the allowance is 14 ounces per person per month; in Belgium the ration is one ounce per person per day; in Holland one-fifth of a pound per person per week; in Czechoslovakia 10 ounces per person per week; subject in all cases to the condition that there is meat on hand to be doled out. When there isn't, the rationing schedule doesn't mean anything, except blighted hopes and disappointment —and perhaps a despairing wonder whether political liberation is the blessing it was expected to be.

Under the present ration scale a consumer in Canada can buy each week 36 ounces of carcass meat for each person in his family—besides "fancy meats", of which Canadians consume about 20 million pounds per year. That is to say, a Canadian consumer can eat fifty per cent more meat per week than a consumer in France, a consumer in Belgium, a consumer in Holland, and a consumer in Czechoslovakia, all together. Taking no account, of course, of "fancy meats", and the more ample supplies of cheese, eggs and other meat-substitutes which are available in this singularly favored land.

If the Canadian consumer has supposed that he was being called upon to suffer for the sake of the unfortunate peoples in Nazi-cursed Europe, he should ponder these facts. They show that we don't know what real rationing is like. We have been eating at the rate of 145 pounds of meat per person per year. Under rationing we can get 130 pounds per year, plus "fancy meats". This is 12 per cent less than we ate in 1944, but 12 per cent more than we ate in pre-war times.

The Canadian consumer should thank God that he can spare one mouthful of meat per day to feed the hungry millions overseas and still eat a mouthful more per day than he used to eat in peacetime.

Premier Prince Kuni is a busy man these days. Orders from occupation headquarters are dropping on his desk in drumfire fashion. If he gets time to think between blasts he must wonder what critics mean when they said they suspected General MacArthur intended to make it a "soft peace".

It is disclosed that bomb-carrying balloons or parts of these have been found at 250 points between the British Columbia coast and the border of Ontario. As none of them apparently did any damage, these represent a substantial waste of time and effort on the part of the ingenious Japs. But it is not altogether pointless to note what might have happened if the incendiary explosives been sent over when the prairie grain crops were ripe, instead of in the season when the country was covered with snow.

Autumn Is for Canada

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

It is autumn and we Canadians sense it more intimately than any other people. We do not deny its delights to others, but autumn belongs peculiarly to Canada. The scarlet maple leaf, tinged by the first frost, is the public emblem of our nation, but it has a meaning deep in us which foreigners will not understand. All the memories, the joys and sorrows of the dying summer, all the threat and gathering anger of our Canadian winter grows poignant now in the hours of these autumn days, so few, so precious and so short.

THIS IS NATURE'S TURNING POINT

All nature combines in a final explosion of energy to mark the great turning point of our Canadian year. As in those fall days of 1608, when the Frenchmen first saw it from their rock, the vegetation of Canada kindles itself in a blazing banner across three thousand miles from sea to sea—crimson in the hardwood forest of the east, golden upon the vast bosom of the prairies, yellow of poplar splashed like paint across the leagues of western mountain down to the shore. All the year's growth, all the inscalculable labor of sap and cell, all the chemistry of soil and sunshine, seem to have been bent on this single purpose, a brief fulfillment, a sudden spectacle before the white curtain drops.

The Canadian knows these signs and prepares grimly for what must follow. In countless farmyards on the prairies and in the east the ripened grain is being piled—good hard maple, oak and birch along the St. Lawrence, poplar on the plains and crackling Douglas fir west of the Rockies. In pungent roothouses the potato bins are filling up, the chain of onions hang from the ceiling and the pumpkins grin from the shelves. The grain is flowing through the red elevators from the lakes to the mountains. Down by the Bay of Fundy and in the Niagara country and in the hard valley of Okanagan they are lifting the reddening apples from the trees. On either coast the fishing fleets are out for the last harvest before the winter drives the boats up on the beach. In the foothills of Alberta and on the plateau of Cariboo the cowboys are edging the cattle down from the high summer range ahead of the snow.

CITY DWELLERS FEEL MELANCHOLY

The city dweller sniffs the morning air, rich with the smell of the last flowers, turning leaves and wood smoke, and feels young again, remembering the autumn of his boyhood—feels a sudden inward pleasure which is sharpened by a little pang of melancholy, for the year is ending and the old days cannot be recaptured. But in us Canadian home the youngsters feel the autumn, without regret or longing, for only a fierce and healthy animal satisfaction and already they are devastating the attic in the search for skis and skates, while stubborn bargaining raises the autumn value of second-hand pucks and hockey sticks.

No Canadian of any age can fail to sense the glow and richness of these lingering days, to feel their sharp mixture of pleasure and wild regret, for it is an instinct bred in us by our fathers and part of the inheritance of our life. Autumn belongs to us, and we can grasp it in our hands as no other people can, who know it and know the swiftness of its passage and the days that are no more.

Big Fight on Wheat

By GRANT DEXTER

OTTAWA.—The wheat policy, announced by Hon. J. A. MacKinnon in the House of Commons for the time being is overshadowing all other issues on Parliament Hill.

Within twenty-four hours, Mr. Coldwell attempted to bring on a formal debate by moving the adjournment of the house. His motion was discountenanced by Mr. Speaker, but that a free-for-all on wheat policy will take place the moment the present debate on the address is concluded is certain. The present expectation is that this will be about Wednesday.

PARLIAMENT'S FIRST ROW NOW BREWING FAST

Meantime, members who are unable to restrain themselves, are airing their views on wheat in the current debate. One such contribution was made by P. E. Wright, CCF member for Meadicot. He criticized the government policy on the ground that the five-year guaranteed floor price of $1 per bushel is too low. It is, he said, below the cost of production. Robert Fair, Social Crediter from Battle River, also criticized the floor declaring that it should be $1.25 per bushel.

It is plain that the wheat policy will be controversial. It may well be that this will be the first major issue to emerge in this new parliament. Pending the formal debate, of course, it is impossible to foretell what the main lines of criticism will be. However, additional light bearing on the problem are now available and may help to clarify the world wheat situation.

In his statement to the House of Commons, Mr. MacKinnon stated that for all practical purposes the United States and Canada are the only countries in the world with export surpluses. At a time when the pent-up demand in liberated Europe and the Far East has been released, only two countries possess a corner in wheat. What they demand, the world must pay or go without. The fact that almost all this wheat will be sold on loan or credit, financed by Canadian taxpayers lends a sheer note of ultimate unreality to the whole situation.

It is well known that the decision of the Canadian government to sell at $1.55 per bushel was made when it became clear that the United States was prepared to allow the export price to go much higher. The current U.S. export price, in terms of Canadian dollars, was quoted at $2.10 per bushel, hitherto, however, there has been no intelligent explanation of how this price was calculated.

It is now learned that the U.S. export price is the current Chicago market price of approximately $1.68 per bushel, plus the cost of shipping the wheat to seaboard, about 20 cents, plus ten per cent exchange differential. The buyer in Europe were negotiating for the purchase of Canadian or United States wheat, the U.S. wheat at seaboard would cost him about $2.10 in Canadian money. That is, the equivalent in Canadian money of what he would have to pay in the U.S. would be $2.10. On the figures quoted above the exact price would be $2.06, but there are small items like premiums for higher Canadian quality and so forth which raise it to the $2.10 level.

The Canadian government, for reasons made clear by Mr. MacKinnon, declined to take advantage of the existing situation and will sell wheat at $1.55 per bushel, Fort William. To get a comparison with the $2.10 price at U.S. seaboard, it is necessary to add to the $1.55 the cost of shipping the wheat from Fort William to the Canadian seaboard, which is about 20 cents per bushel. The real difference, therefore, between the U.S. and the Canadian wheat price policies is some 35 cents per bushel.

The foregoing statement of facts as they now exist is sufficient evidence to demonstrate that the 1942 international wheat agreement has broken down. Neither Mr. MacKinnon or anyone else here, in or out of parliament, has breathed a word about the effect of plainly obvious disagreement on export price between Washington and Ottawa upon the wheat agreement. It is only necessary, however, to glance at the terms of the document to realize that it has been abandoned.

The wheat agreement of 1933 will be recalled. It blew up when Argentina refused to accept its terms. After long negotiations an international wheat conference of the leading exporting nations and the United Kingdom, as the principal buyer, was held in July 1941. This conference resulted in the "memorandum of agreement" of April 1942, the document, known as the 1942 wheat agreement. This memorandum was designed to hold the fort during the war and until such time thereafter as a "proper" wheat conference of the nations having a substantial interest in international trade in wheat was called." It provided for meetings of the International Wheat Council in August of each year.

AGREEMENT COLLAPSE PROBABLY RECENT

It is to be presumed, therefore, that the usual meeting was held within the past few weeks, and it may be guessed that the breakdown on prices occurred at this meeting. It was the duty of the council, under the memorandum of agreement, to fix minimum and maximum export prices for wheat, and the various countries agreed undertook to see that the prices were adhered to. Clearly, however, there is no agreement in force.

If, as the facts so strongly argue, the wheat agreement has blown up, a number of questions of fundamental importance to the west must necessarily arise. For example, it is one thing to enforce quotas on production, control acreage, etc., when the nation's position in the world wheat trade is assured by an agreement both as to price and as to quantity of exports. But it is another thing to follow a quota or restrictionist policy single-handed, when other producers may be expanding acreage and cutting prices. It has been observed, at Ottawa, that there have been significant increases of late in the wheat acreage in the United States and in Australia.

By B. M.

Since Uncle Joe Stalin got promoted to generalissimo he seems to have swung over definitely to the side of the boss or officer class, especially super-bracket officers. We view this development with deep disappointment, because we always figured that at least there was one guy who wasn't promotion-happy, and was satisfied to hold with comrades. Evidently private was just as good a man as the common general.

Our opinion of the Red Army setup used to be very high, for we vaguely understood that all ranks lived and fought under more or less the same conditions, with no special privileges being accorded to anybody — a situation which pretty well prevailed in the Canadian army after it went into action, and which pleased everybody as we figured it was one of the things we were fighting for.

WHAT, NOTHING FOR THE PRIVATES?

Now the Soviet government, of which body Generalissimo Stalin is an influential member, announces that henceforth officers of the Red Army are to have the best of everything, as far as possible (we hasten to say that so far we agree this would be a good thing) but nothing is said about the privates and N.C.O.'s who, in any man's army, do a pretty fair proportion of the fighting. That's where the rub comes in, and frankly we think the Red Army could have given a fine lead and made a splendid gesture by announcing a lot of extra privileges and extra pay for private soldiers, for members of the sergeants' mess, but nothing for the officers, especially generals. Let them try to rub along with the privileges they already enjoy.

Among the things Red Army privates are going to get, according to an announcement in Red Star, the army newspaper, are free food rations in Category 2, in addition to their regular officers' rations which will give them considerably more food, in greater variety, than the average Russian worker. In addition, generals and colonels will have permanent orderlies to relieve them from "tedious private duties." In the announcement does not specify what these tedious private duties are—taking the wife's pooch out for a walk would be one of them, is our guess.

Also, and this is the unkindest cut of all, Red Army clubs would be for the exclusive use of officers where formerly all personnel of the Red Army were entitled to club privileges.

We know of no Allied army, certainly not the Canadian or British armies, where the official scale of privileges has been higher for officers than for other ranks. But it has been true, officially, that officers' clubs were exclusively for officers, and men's club for the men, which may be why Canadian officers so often preferred to drink in the men's canteen and enjoy the congenial company of the boys, rather than in officers' messes.

WE SUPPOSE IT'S HUMAN NATURE

Well, it just goes to show what human nature is. There used to be a lot of guys who would go around muttering darkly about sergeants or officers and their privileges. But as soon as they got three hooks or a couple of pips themselves they, who had complained loudest, would become the most jealous guardians of these privileges, and would seek to extend them. We wouldn't be surprised but what that's what's happened to Uncle Joe. When he was a mere marshal, he didn't seem to care a hoot about special privileges. Now that he's been promoted, like so many other guys we know, he does. It just goes to show.

SIDE GLANCES—"What difference does it make for me if they split the atom? I'll be interested when they bring on something that will split wood without me swinging an axe!"

An Honor to Canada

BOOK OF KNOWLEDGE

The inclusion of Jack Miner's name among the 15 great personages of the world is an honor to the man and to Canada where this great naturalist carried on his work. Others listed are Livingstone, Shakespeare, Burbank, Pasteur, Bell, Edison, Laura Secord, Grenfell Banting, Lord Kelvin, Churchill, George Washington, Florence Nightingale and John Bunyan. All may not agree that this is the best selection; some may prefer to delete names and add others in their place. But there can be no doubt that Jack Miller deserves such recognition, no matter on what basis a list of the world's great men were being prepared. His labor was unique, and its benefits in the conservation of wild life are incalculable. Although the man himself is dead, the inspiring record of his work must result in that work being continued with the support of private contributions and public grants.

Canada's Flag

Editor, Bulletin: Canada is to have a national flag.

Why not make Canada's flag a memorial to the fighting men of two great wars?

A Canadian flag might very easily, and unhappily, become the theme of bitter controversy.

As a memorial to our fighting men it attains dignity, commands respect, and wins acceptance.

Too many suggested flags are hopelessly complicated, where all great flags are simple.

Canada's flag needs the stark simplicity of the Union Jack, the Stars and Stripes, the Hammer and Sickle.

Sixty years ago the ensign with the Union Jack in the upper quarter and Canada's coat of arms on the fly was widely accepted as the Canadian flag.

The Union Jack and the red ensign are part of our tradition.

Why not replace the coat of arms by the emblem worn by our fighting men—a single maple leaf?

Gold if you insist—though I, for one, favor green, because Canada is in the spring and not the autumn of nationhood.

A single maple leaf—

Token of the unity we need and our fighting men had—

And, most of all, an enduring memorial to those who made our future worth while.

Why not?

Wants Change

Editor, Bulletin: Congratulations on your editorial of Saturday, Sept. 15, on Mr. Ilsley's "Iniquitous Tax Structure". What you have said is true and timely. It is becoming more apparent every day that the present financial system and price control will not work in this age of superabundance. True, more crumbs will be thrown under the table in an effort to keep the dogs quiet, but the hundreds returning from overseas today are not feeble-minded or nit-wits. The many I have engaged in conversation are just too quiet for Mr. Ilsley's well-being. More could be said, but it is well known by thinking people "The quiet storm is generally preceded by a rock-me-to-sleep quietness. What They Miss

Editor, Bulletin: A disgruntled war worker feels so sorry for himself. He says "A few years ago we were bums, then for a short time we were heroes."

A war worker is not exactly my idea of a hero. When they were making big wages they griped about rationing, taxes, compulsory savings, etc. Now the good times are over they are crying because they are out of a job. It's the easy money not the job they miss. Let's stop whining about it.

I, as a war-worker say he hoped the war would last 10 years so he could get a little more ahead. Take a look around and see who owns all the new houses; you can bet they don't belong to servicemen. All this preference stuff for ex-servicemen is a lot of hooey, too. I know.

To donors and others who have contributed in any way to the

in Alberta Division Clinics:

Dear Friends:

This letter is to say "THANK YOU!"

The volunteer Blood Donor Service of the Canadian Red Cross Society was established on January 29, 1940. Since that time, we have received over 2,500,000 blood donations in Canada. As we are now closing the service from a war standpoint, we would like to express to you our sincere appreciation for the blood donations you have so generously given.

There is always a joy in doing something for another but there is a special joy when it means the saving of a life. This Service has been the means of saving the lives of hundreds of our men in the Navy and the Air Force; so you, by your co-operation, have had a part in it. We know this thought will fully repay you.

Now regarding the future. It is most unfortunate that many deaths occur in the hospitals in Canada annually because of the lack of a proper transfusion service. The Red Cross is an organization of energy and we are now surveying the field in Canada with a view of setting up a service to provide blood for transfusion purposes in all hospitals.

It is anticipated that it will take at least three months to complete the survey, so we again say "Thank you" for your assistance during the war period and we most earnestly request that you join with us when the new service is established in continuing to play a part in the saving of human life—something so dear to us all.

Yours sincerely,

DR. R. C. RILEY,
Chairman, Blood Donor Committee.

Assisted by the Rev. Dr. J. R. Mutchmor, secretary, Board of Evangelism, United Church of Canada, the moderator will conduct a three-day mission and "Crusade for Christ and His Kingdom", beginning Wednesday evening in McDougall United Church.

CRUSADE OBJECTIVES

Purposes of the crusade were a rededication of the ministry and membership to Christ for the post-war tasks of the church; to extend the Gospel message; to re-enlist in the fellowship and work of the church returning servicemen and women and war workers; to encourage youth in the enterprises of the Kingdom, to seek an increase in candidates for the ministry; to assist in building an enduring world order on spiritual foundations in co-operation with other reformed communions in Canada.

In the last year Dr. Arnup has conducted evangelical rallies from Newfoundland to the west coast where, at Vancouver, he was joined by Dr. Mutchmor. Response in every instance had been greatly heartening, and as an example the Forum at Vancouver was crowded to capacity. One estimate numbered those in attendance at 7,500, said Dr. Mutchmor.

The church's place in rehabilitation should be to minister to the comfort of veterans and war brides, with its primary object one of helpfulness in community life, said Dr. Arnup.

In the rally the church was advocating several different branches of evangelism including mass evangelism, such as those now being conducted on the Dominion-wide crusade; visitation evangelism, in which members of the church sought their neighbors' participation in the work and activity of the church; educational evangelism, which is carried on in the church school, and pastoral evangelism.

BEVERAGE QUESTION

A greater liberality in the distribution of spirituous beverages had been advocated in other parts of the country as a means of reducing intemperance by removing the scarcity complex. When questioned on the United Church stand in this respect Dr. Mutchmor said the United Church official view in British Columbia favored a study and report by a Royal Commission rather than a snap vote plebiscite, in which a minority might strive to find means of outweighing the actual representation of the vote.

Dr. Mutchmor spoke favorably of the liquor rationing system, stating the consumption in British Columbia had decreased considerably under the restrictions.

The progressive reduction according to revenue figures, said Dr. Mutchmor, amounted to: 1942, $35,000,000; 1943, $30,000,000; 1944, $26,000,000.

OLD COUNTRY INNS

To the question of improving the atmosphere of beverage rooms along the lines of Old Country inns, the doctor said, the so-called idealized English pub would not long continue an "idyllic spot" in the Canadian scene. Moreover, such pubs were very few in Britain, because of the commoner type of city pub and the "pub crawler" as criticized by Churchill.

Dr. Mutchmor, continuing his explanation of the church's stand on temperance, said Britain had increased the tax on beer from four and a half cents to 15 cents a pint. In view of this the church had asked Finance Minister Ilsley to increase the tax in the coming budget.

Dr. Arnup had words of high praise for the effective work accomplished by service padres during the war, and also commended organizations who had worked hard and long in keeping up the flow of parcels and letters to the troops.

Commenting on problems expected in the post-war period the clergymen recalled a resolution made by the Board of Evangelism and Social Service, framed at Toronto September 6, warning that due to the unexpectedly quick ending of the war with Japan wartime industry had been taken by surprise with the result that much of it would have to be reconverted sooner than expected.

EMPLOYMENT QUESTION

This would affect the employment situation during the change-over period. The preamble noted threats of sit-in strikes and danger of unreasonable demands, particularly in some metropolitan areas.

It also noted the government had issued a program of reconservion as early as April. To all this the resolution pleaded first for steadfastness by the people and a due appreciation of the difficulties, urging a fair chance for the newly-elected government to establish its reconversion policy.

The resolution concluded by urging industry and organized labor to unite in a common effort in co-operation with the government, so that reconversion could be expedited and so that Canada could seek her fair share of world trade, including provision of goods required for needy peoples in war damaged areas.

After termination of the three-day mission in Edmonton Dr. Arnup and Dr. Mutchmor will go to Saskatoon to conduct another rally and crusade.

Dual Power Supply For Dawson Creek

VICTORIA, Sept. 26.—(CP)—The British Columbia Power Commission has formally taken over the small Terrace, B.C., power system owned by Gordon Kerr, and is operating a temporary plant to supply electricity to consumers in that area, S. R. Weston, chairman of the commission, announced yesterday.

Mr. Kerr's generating plant was destroyed by fire about a month ago and the commission acquired an RCAF unit to supply power in its place. About 60 customers are affected.

Mr. Weston said also that the commission was negotiating with War Assets Corporation for a lease on a plant at Dawson Creek, built by the United States Army.

Northland Utilities, recently incorporated to acquire the Peace River holdings of Dominion Electric Power Ltd., when the Saskatchewan government took over the latter company, will distribute the power, under arrangements now being worked out, Mr. Weston said.

He said the Northland Utilities plant was not large enough to supply all the power needed in the Dawson Creek area and the U.S. Army plant would be used to supplement its supply.

Hospital Ship For Repatriation

MONTREAL, Sept. 26—(CP)—Col. R. S. Malone, head of the army public relations branch, said in an interview last night that the hospital ship SS. Letitia now is en route to the Far East to repatriate Canadian liberated prisoners of war, and "I would say that the great majority of our men will be back in Canada within a matter of weeks, perhaps in only a month". Col. Malone, who recently returned from Japan, said that the Canadian and United States governments were pooling their hospital ship facilities in order to expedite the return of liberated prisoners of war ready to come home. Any Canadians ready to embark on an American ship that was not filled would be placed aboard for return to Canada.

Japs in Burma Begin Surrender

RANGOON, Sept. 26.—(Reuters)—Beaten Japanese in Burma began surrendering to British forces Monday, the first batch coming in at Mokpalin, near the Sittang river bend at Sittang, southern Burma, and giving up their arms. By nightfall many hundreds of Japanese had been ferried across the river and were lodged in prisoner of war cages at Waw. Within the next two weeks it is expected two Japanese divisions, the 53rd and the 18th, will have surrendered.

60,000 Civilians Freed From Japs Coming to Coast

VANCOUVER, Sept. 26.—(CP)—Some 60,000 civilians returning to their homes in Canada and the United Kingdom from Japanese internment camps will pass through two Red Cross camps at Vancouver, Red Cross officials here said yesterday.

These 60,000 form part of the 192,000 Canadian and British civilians released from internment in the Pacific and are in addition to the thousands of British and Canadian servicemen who will pass through Vancouver.

First group of civilian internees is expected to arrive at San Francisco about Oct. 1 and about 20 Canadians are expected to be in the group.

Cameron is the second victim of a severe September snow-storm which swept this area Saturday. The body of Archie Fisher, sheepherder on the Mayland ranch in southeastern Alberta, was found Monday near Govenlock, Sask.

Cafe at Hanna Is Damaged by Fire

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

HANNA, Sept. 26—Interior and fixtures of the Liberty Cafe in Hanna were destroyed by fire Monday afternoon. The blaze was brought under control after the fire brigade had battled it for three hours. Loss was estimated at $25,000, partly covered by insurance. The establishment was redecorated last year at a cost of several thousands of dollars.

Infantry Praised by Commons Member

OTTAWA, Sept. 26.—(CP)—The "poor bloody infantry" came in for a pat on the back yesterday in the commons from Douglas Harkness (PC-Calgary East), an artilleryman whose regiment, he said, "because of the manpower policy of the government" spent three months serving as infantry in the war.

The infantryman, he concluded, had the lowest scale of pay but the hardest work, great risk and hardship.

This was probably because early in the war it was thought there would not be much need of infantry, that there was a greater need of the technical arms of the service. It turned out otherwise. The infantry and artillery had more to do with victory than other arms.

"What we need is a complete change in the scale of pay of the services so that it will bear a better relationship to the risks run and the hardships endured on the battlefield," he said.

Explosive Charge Brings $25 Fines

SAINT JOHN, N.B., Sept. 26—(CP)—Nine men, charged with unlawfully breaking up explosives, were fined $25 each yesterday, with an alternative of one month in jail. Removed from the freighter Beaverhill, aground in Saint John harbor for a year, the explosives were broken up and the brass parts sold as junk. Some of the dismantling operations were carried out at St. Martin's, where explosions occurred.

Dutch Children Decorate Graves

LONDON, Sept. 26.—(Reuters)—The Dutch radio reported that some 1,500 Dutch school children yesterday placed flowers on every grave of the men of the 1st British airborne division which fought gallantly but without success a year ago to win a bridgehead on the north side of the Neder Rhine at Arnhem. The graves are in a new Allied military cemetery at Oosterbeek, near Arnhem, consecrated Tuesday.

McCoy Health Service

Many people who are hungry for the taste of fresh fruit use it before bedtime solely because of the pleasure they derive from eating it.

Others, who have found from experience that the use of fruit in this manner will prevent constipation, use it regularly and report considerable benefit from the practice.

The habit of taking fruit last thing at night as a preventer of constipation is mostly likely to succeed in cases of atonic constipation in which the colon is relaxed and roughage contained in the fruit may have a desirable stimulating effect.

In many foreign countries it is customery to use six or eight meals during the day, and although I do not advocate overeating it seems that these people do well, providing the meals are not too large. Those wishing to adopt a somewhat similar rule of eating will find that whenever more than three meals a day are used, it is a good plan to make the bedtime meal of fruit.

The average meal leaves the stomach in about four hours and for this reason all heavy meals should be spaced four or five hours apart. Fruit, when used alone, will leave the stomach more rapidly.

Those who become hungry before going to bed may use one kind of fresh fruit with benefit. Oranges, apples, pears, and similar fruits may be taken and it is generally possible to enjoy a good night's sleep after their use, whereas if heavier or richer foods are used, they may interfere with slumber.

It is my belief that while fruit is one of our most valuable foods, it is best taken by itself, or with milk and should not as a general rule be taken with meals containing starches. When fruit is combined with starch, the acid of the fruit seems to hinder the digestion of the starch, and the individual does not derive the same amount of good which would be derived when the fruit and starch are used separately.

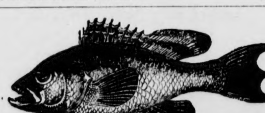

I find that when I question patients, those who complain that they cannot use fruit because it makes so much gas will generally be found to be in the habit of mixing the fruit with a starchy meal. As soon as they learn to separate the fruit and the starchy meals, they frequently notice that they are able to handle the fruit with perfect ease.

One of the beauties about using fruit last thing at night is that there is a golden opportunity to take the fruit when the other food has emptied out of the stomach, hence, when there is best chance of its being well digested without any trouble whatsoever.

When using fruit before bedtime, try to space it so that the fruit is not taken any sooner than three or four hours after the dinner meal. In this way you will get all the healthful effects of the fruit without interfering with the digestion of the preceeing meal.

If you are hungry before going to bed, get into the habit of helping yourself to an apple, an orange or a pear. This is a good health habit and one which should prove a real benefit to you.

All questions regarding health and diet will be answered. Large stamped, self addressed envelope must be enclosed. Write on one side of paper only. Letters must not exceed 150 words. Address McCoy Health Service, The McCoy Building, 1151 West 6th Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

Another policy-holder reports . . .

"I AM a policyholder in The Mutual Life of Canada, an average man with the average man's problems. I know what people mean when they talk of stretching the dollars to meet all the needs. That is the reason why I decided to insure in the first place. I knew that it was unfair for me to go on making plans for the future with my family and doing nothing to guarantee their fulfilment if I should not be here. It was then that I realized that the only practical solution was life insurance.

"I DISCUSSED my needs with a Mutual Life representative and as a result I purchased Ordinary Life insurance.

"THE AMOUNT I pay remains the same each year. I share in the Company's earnings and my protection remains in force as long as I live. But I also have the option of using the cash value of the policy to provide a retirement income at any time I choose. What I shall do will depend upon my circumstances, but it gives me a great sense of security to know that I own this insurance with its constantly increasing values."

Let a Mutual Life representative help you select a policy adapted to your particular circumstances!

The Bulletin's SPORT SHOW by Hal Dean

SPORTS EDITOR

EVERYTHING proceeded on schedule at the Arena during Tuesday, second day of the Canadian Athletic Club's hockey school, with out-of-town juniors, pee-wees, midgets and juveniles going from 4 to 8 p.m., following by a two-hour session for the remaining juniors. Tom McCauley had a good sheet of ice available for the boys and an additional flooding after the juvenile practice also helped.

Bobby Carse, Chicago Black Hawk forward, handled the out-of-town juniors, while Jim Pyper, Andrew McAndrew and Bob Read looked after the pee-wees. Jimmy Anderson coached the midgets and assisted Bob Read with the juveniles.

Lloyd Holmes was in charge of the "night junior workout with a class of 37 and which included most of last year's junior Canadians and juveniles augmented by players from Winnipeg, Calgary, Prince Albert, Cadomin, Edson and Duchess.

TEN JUNIOR HOLDOVERS

DON MURRAY and Sammy Herbert, goalies, Bill Gadsby, Leo Sorsa and Ken Anderson, defencemen, together with forwards Cy and Eddie Thomas, Doug Anderson, Leo LeClair and Ray Spencer made up the contingent of Canadian junior holdovers.

Newcomers at the night drill included Bill Johnson, Don Slater, Ron Matthews and Henry Krewniak of Winnipeg, Lou Leveque, now stationed with RCAF here and a former St. Boniface Athletic; Bronnie Konarsky, also from St. Boniface; Warner Carlson, defenceman from Prince Albert; Dick Sissons, of Duchess, and Bill Haighet of Edson, both right-wingers; Leo Luchini, centre from Cadomin, and Fred Spence (centre), Neil Howell (centre), Ian Watson (goal), and Harvey Ross (left wing), all of Calgary.

Louis Holmes put the boys through a fairly brisk session, experimenting with various line and defence combinations and it is quite obvious the Canadians will have considerable smart hockey talent to mold into a junior machine this season.

SEVERAL TRIOS WORKED

WITH some changes later in the evening, the following forward trios were tried out:

Fred Spence, Cy and Eddie Thomas; Bob Fleming, Don Slater and Bill Johnson; Neil Howell, Harvey Ross and Dick Sissons; Doug Anderson, Ray Spencer and Leo LeClair; Leo Luchini, Stan Morgan and Bill Highet; Bob Jackson, Jack Sugden and Matt Wigston: Herb Maines, Bilas Campbell and Doug Coffin; Bill Stanton, Doug Coffin and Stan Johnson.

Bill Gadsby and Leo Sorsa, Ken Anderson and Jack Davies, Ron Matthews and Warner Carlson operated as defence units.

Clarence Moher, coach of the '44-45 junior Canadians and who will be handling the New Westminster entry in the coast senior loop this year, almost wept when he saw the new crop of right-handers, including such players as Johnson, Sissons and Highet—just to name three. Last season Eddie Thomas and Leo LeClair were the only forwards with the club who fired from the right boards.

Incidentally, Moher announced last night that "Whitey" Rimstad (Currie Army) and Bud Turley, former Flin Flon Bomber who was with Wetaskiwin Army in '44-45 expect to receive Army discharges soon and will be with the New Westminster club.

Calgary Blizzards Coming to Open Season at Clarke Stadium

First Junior Football Game Next Sunday

City Squad Now Fully Equipped

By CECIL GOLDSTICK

MANY types of rationing have affected sport fans during the war, but one type of rationing which was never officially introduced has at long last come to an end—now don't swoon — Edmonton's junior football club has obtained equipment, and on Sunday afternoon at Clarke Stadium the old pigskin will take a pounding when the Calgary North Hill Blizzards meet the newly organized junior club here backed by the Canadian and Edmonton Athletic Clubs.

George Snowdon was in touch with Les Ferguson of Calgary, president of the ARFU, over the telephone late last night and completed arrangements to bring the Blizzards, one of the three clubs in the Calgary Junior League, for an exhibition game which will send the football season off to a good start in Edmonton.

"We're taking a big gamble because we have to depend only on a collection and the expense of bringing the Blizzards here is a big undertaking, but the boys want action, and we'll give it to them," Snowdon said last night.

BAND IN ATTENDANCE

Plans are being made to make it a gala opening with a band being in attendance, and ceremonial touches thrown in to make it an enjoyable day for Edmonton football fans.

Jim Pyper and Gordon Rayner, two former junior footballers before joining the services a few years back, lately have been in charge of the coaching duties. With Rayner handling the line and Pyper the backfielders, both put their charges through a stiff drill last night, and held a chalk talk in the dressing room at the completion of the workout.

For the past three weeks regular workouts have been held at Clarke Stadium and the coaches in charge are pleased with the material on hand. In fact their opinion is that this city can have one of the best junior clubs ever produced.

NAVY HELPS

And the biggest question as to where the playing gear was coming from has been solved at last.

Through the co-operation of Lt.-Cmdr. W. C. L. Webster, commanding officer of HMCS Nonsuch, Lieut. A. H. Ford, Lieut. W. Graham, and the canteen committee of HMCS Nonsuch, the team is fully equipped, with the outfits used by last year's Navy club.

George Snowdon looking after the EAC interests, and Lieut. Danny Brownlow, just recently discharged from the Navy, representing the CAC share of it, will be co-managers of the club. Majority of the credit for getting things under way should go their way. Instead of letting the game be put on the shelf for another year when the equipment situation really looked blue, they never gave up. Now that the big problem is settled it was just as pleasing to them as it is to the players themselves.

More about the personnel of the club will be known by the next couple of days after the weeding out of players.

The next workout is called for Clarke Stadium tonight starting at 6 o'clock, all players are urged to be on hand.

POURING IT ON—North Carolina's giant tackle duo cool out after hot practice session. Stan Marcyk, left, 247-pound freshman, takes water from 224-pound Ted Hazelwood, Marine veteran of the Pacific.

Chicago Virtually "In"

Cubs Down Cardinals 6-5 And Now Hold 2½ Game Lead

NEW YORK, Sept. 26—(AP)—Those "$5,000 jitters" joited the Cardinals just a little bit more than the Cubs yesterday—and the jolt jerked Chicago's grizzlies virtually out of reach in front of the National League's pennant stretch struggle.

The Cubs came to life with a four-run rally in the seventh inning of the first game of the senior circuit's own "little world series" to pile up a 6-5 win and jump 2½ games out in front of St. Louis in the flag chase.

Taking this thrill-a-play heartbreaker, the Cubs slipped to a spot where they have to take only four of their remaining six games to lock up the championship, even if the Cards win all of the five they still have to play.

Riding to victory on the shaky—but rugged—right arm of Hank Borowy, who thus posted his 10th win against two setbacks since being bought from the Yanks in midseason, the Cubs, had all the heat taken off them for today's second and final tilt as they are carrying all the load now—especially since their ace, Harry (The Cat) Brecheen, was trumped so soundly and solidly Tuesday.

Borowy wasn't around at the finish. Coming back with a two run rally in the eighth, the Cards clouted Hank out of the box for the first time in 12 starts since he joined the Cubs.

As New York, Goody Rosen's 12th homer of the season, coming with two out and two on in the ninth inning, climaxed a Brooklyn Dodgers' spurt for a 7-4 National League decision over New York Giants.

Calgary Blizzards Post Initial Win

CALGARY, Sept. 26—(CP)—North Hill Blizzards remained in the running for the Calgary Junior Football League championship race when they scored their initial victory by defeating East End Stampeders 21-5 here this evening before about 2,000 fans who turned out despite the cold weather.

Fumbles proved costly to the East End club as all the Blizzards major scores with the exception of one were gained by sloppy playing.

Flyers Take Lead Men's Fastball Tilt Playoff

RCAF Flyers took a one-game lead in the two-of-three series for the City Men's Fastball League championship Tuesday night when they turned back Moose 12-6 in the series opener at Kingsway Park.

Moose pushed across two in the second frame, but the Flyers came back with four in the fourth on two hits, one a double by Ken Arkley, a pair of errors, a stolen base and a fielder's choice to take the lead they never yielded.

Arkley, besides batting in two with his fourth-inning double, connected for three other safeties in four trips to the plate for a perfect night at the plate and to lead the Flyers 12-hit attack.

ORFU Dissallows Hamilton Protest

HAMILTON, Sept. 26—(CP)—An Ontario Rugby Football Union committee meeting attended by officials of Hamilton Wildcats and Toronto Oakland Indians last night disallowed a protest by Wildcats against a referee's decision Saturday when Wildcats bowed to Indians 6-4.

Wildcats claimed an attempted placement in the fourth quarter by George (Scotty) Wright, which would have tied the score 6-6, should have been ruled completed. Referee Harry McBrien allowed a single point when the kick went to the deadline.

In disallowing the protest, officials ruled the protest concerned a referee's judgment.

VANCOUVER, Sept. 26—(CP)—The News-Herald in a front page story Tuesday said the B.C. Turf and Country Club Limited, capitalized at $1,000,000, was incorporated under the companies act Monday, constituting the largest deal in the history of British Columbia racing.

The article added:

"Leading city and California business and sportsmen have joined to form the new racing setup.

"Mentioned in connection with the formation of the new club is Charles S. Hward, multi-millionaire American and one of the most famous thoroughbred owners in the United States.

"Also believed to be interested are Bing Crosby and Pat O'Brien, major stockholders in the Del Mar track in California."

WINNIPEG, Sept. 26—(CP)—Climaxing crowd scenes unprecedented in Winnipeg athletics, St. John's Tech conceded a 15-2 victory to Daniel McIntyre Collegiate institute with six minutes left to play, in the first high-school football match of the season here Monday night.

Currie Trims Winnipeg 11-1 In First of Western Series

CALGARY, Sept. 26—(CP)—Running wild in one big inning and controlling the play in fairly easy fashion for the remainder of the contest, Calgary's Currie Barracks baseball club whipped Winnipeg Transcona's 11-1 here this evening in the first game of a Western Canada senior final that will continue Wednesday afternoon with a double-header.

Held up since last Friday because of cold and wet weather, the game was played on a field that was "heavy" on the baselines and slippery on the grass infield but there was still little doubt Currie's superiority.

Transcona could do little with the offerings of Verne Richardson who fanned a dozen opponents and passed up six infield pokes to personally retire 18 Winnipeggers. He gave up only four safe hits, one a two-bagger by Joe Terris.

The Calgary soldiers got to big George Lehman in the first inning and ended the game with a tally of nine ale hits, including a three-run homer by Dick Noon which sparked the eight-run second inning, and two-baggers by Noon, Giavedoni and Max Bentley. Five Winnipeg errors, three in the second frame, helped the army boys in the one-sided contest.

While Richardson personally attended to the first 14 put-outs credited to his club, Lehman had a bad time before the game got that far.

Currie went one-up when a single by Kendrick and doubles by Giavedoni and Bentley were turned into a single first-inning run, then Winnipeg fell apart in the second and was behind 9-0 before the players could pull themselves together.

Noon opened with a two-bagger and the next three batters reached first on an error and two bases on balls. Two more errors, a passed ball, another walk, a pair of fielder's choices and Noon's homer finished the debacle.

After coasting through five scoreless innings, during which Transconas tightened up and gave evidence they are not yet ready to be counted out, Currie added two more runs in the eighth when Giavedoni singled and Lane sacrificed them both home. Winnipeg was saved from a shutout in the ninth when Buster Glowa singled, went to second as Blacquire was thrown out at first and came home when Marcotti singled to right field.

British Golfers Decide Against Rider Cup Play

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 26—(AP)—A British Professional Golf Association decision not to field a Ryder Cup match next year disappointed top-flight American golfers here Tuesday for the Portland open.

Fred Corcoran, American P.G.A. tournament manager, expressed regret the international tourney could not be resumed. Commenting on the British statement that time was needed to offset effects of war, he declared, "This country has been at war, too. Five of the present U.S. Ryder Cup team have been in the armed forces."

American players, however, will accept Britain's invitation for a visit, he said. "A number of our top players—including Byron Nelson—are planning to go to England for the British open next year if it is held."

Today's Sport Parade

NEW YORK, Sept. 26 —(BUP)—Corp. Billy Conn stepped out of khaki Tuesday to start up the long road back toward a four-year date with destiny.

Pittsburgh Billy got his discharge papers at Camp Lee, Va., and announced that within a month he would be back in the ring—waiting anxiously for the discharge of a certain other soldier. That, of course, would be Sgt. Joe Louis, who shortly is expected to be returned to civilian life.

But the Conn who is waiting for Sgt. Joe is a different one than the slim, rapier-like youngster who came so close to lifting the world's heavyweight crown back in 1941. This Conn has more weight to power his punches, and a bit more savvy than the impetuous Irish kid who tried to turn Celtic cloister when a three-round waltz would have made him king of the boxing world.

TOO MUCH IRISH

He came mighty close that June night four years ago in the Polo Grounds. The young challenger had a definite edge when the bell clanged for the 13th round—but he was Irish. And having that heritage, young Billy wanted to finish the thing as an Irishman would want to. That's where the roof fell in, for even the Gaelic gallantry wasn't enough to stand toe to toe against Joltin' Joe.

So Billy wound up on his battered left side, trying to make Irish legs answer an Irish brain. But the Irish brain which had tossed away a title couldn't make those Irish legs obey.

"I just couldn't stay out of there," Conn said after the 12th round knockout which ruined his dreams. "I had to go in and fight. That's the way I am, even though I'm sure as it was going I had the title won. But remember this—I'll fight him again."

That was more than four years ago and Bill still hasn't got his wish. A bigger battle became the main event and the next year both Louis and Conn were in the army. They gave boxing exhibitions all over the world for their fellow soldiers and now Conn is out and Louis is on his way.

A lot has happened to them in that four-year interval. Both are older and heavier, but Pittsburgh Billy is certain that it is he, and not the Brown Bomber, who has learned the most.

"I've seen a lot of different styles and I've kept in pretty good trim," Conn explained. "I also think I'm a smarter fighter and I haven't lost my speed. Being smarter is what is going to make me tougher against Joe."

PLANS TUNEUP BOUTS

THERE are a lot of heavyweights waiting around for Billy the kid to go back into action. He and Joe will start another bum-of-the-month club as they tune up for a summer bout which will bring back the million dollar gates.

Meanwhile, it should be possible to judge how much time has changed them, for Louis now is a slowing 31 and Conn is a heavier 28. He weighed a padded 174 the last time, 25½ pounds less than Louis, and now tips the beam at a pretty well-conditioned 190 against Joe's 205.

Conn remembers, of course, that nobody ever got past Louis the second time. Such men as Max Schmeling, Arturo Godoy, Bob Pastor and Natie Brown all tried a second shot only to wind up wak-ing up. But Billy has lost enough of that Irish to be cautious and kept enough to the cocky and confident.

Just how much is left may well decide the issue.

CANADIAN SPORTSHOTS

By ALAN HARVEY

TORONTO, Sept. 26.—(CP)—The sport spotlight today links blond Billy Taylor, who handles a hockey stick as suavely as a dowager adjusting her lorgnette, and Jack Perry, a scared seabiscuit on the football field before his R.C.A.F. enlistment in 1942.

Their specialties are different, but these outstanding Canadian athletes have much in common.

They belong to the same age group, both are getting set for the transition from service life to sport, and both appear determined to make their comebacks successful. They've done a lot of thinking about "reconversion," and their frame of mind is healthy.

Taylor, now 26, struggled to the top in hockey from humble beginnings. At his best, he was one of the smoothest stickhandlers in the game.

"Billy went into the army ostensibly to play hockey, actually to eat his heart out in disciplined semi-idleness," reports Andy (Toronto Star) Lytle.

"The army, plus business reverses, plus his father's illness, the responsibilities of wife and children, transformed Taylor from a happy-go-lucky kid with an all-day sucker at his lips, into a grave young man soberly discovering that his foundation had sunk beneath him and it is up to him to fight his own way back to economic stability."

Now Taylor says he realizes how much hockey meant to him. He's working hard at Oshawa, Ont., to condition himself for the opening of the National League training camp of Toronto Maple Leafs, where he'll gun for a centre ice post against fellows like Gus Bodnar, Ted Kennedy, Nick Metz, Pete Langelle and possibly Syl Apps.

Parry, three years younger than Taylor, returns to football at Queen's University in Kingston, Ont., where he will take an engineering course. Jack won the D.F.C.—for "endurance," he says—after 36 bombing missions over Germany. He always wanted to play college football, and now, at 22, he gets the chance.

The Windsor, Ont., backfielder should be a sensation. In 1942, he was an overnight discovery with Toronto R.C.A.F. Hurricanes, Dominion titlists that year. As shrewd a judge as Lew Hayman called Parry a greater running half than Fritzie Hanson, though he later qualified the remark by inserting the word potentially.

For Taylor and Parry, the road back shouldn't be too tough.

Doubleheader Today

Rain Could Give Detroit American League Pennant

By GAYLE TALBOT

DETROIT, Sept. 26—(AP)—Most of Detroit Tigers sat around their hotel home Tuesday and watched the descent of a soothing, gentle rain with all the appreciation of a Saskatchewan farmer after a long drought.

To manager Steve O'Neill's nervous athletes each drop looked like another digit in a world series cheque. One after another they looked at the glistening streets and scanned the lowering clouds and said hopefully: "Looks as if it might last for days."

There was never a chance of playing yesterday's opener with Cleveland. Before noon the home club, the judge and jury in such cases, announced there would be a doubleheader today, starting at 12:30 p.m. C.D.T.

If those games should be washed out, too, the Tigers automatically would become American League champions, assured of finishing ahead of the idle Washington Senators on percentage points even if they should drop their final two games in St. Louis Saturday and Sunday.

The best the weather bureau could say was that today's weather should be better—how much better it wouldn't guess. The airport said it would clear in the afternoon. Even if the sun should appear early in the day, Briggs Stadium still will be a wet ball yard at game time.

Says No Defence Against Atom Bomb

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Scientists say "that as scientists they can offer no hope of a specific defence against the atomic bomb," Howard Blakeslee, Associated Press science editor, told a service club here yesterday.

Outlining attitude of scientists to whom he has been talking, Mr. Blakeslee said they believed that "by using more bombs, larger bombs and more efficient bombs it will be possible in the near future to completely destroy the bulk of the population, industry and military strength of any nation within a few days—moreover, aviation and rocket developments might enable this to be done in a few hours without the possibility of effective retaliation."

"Those who have discussed defence with me," the Pulitzer prize-winning writer said, "say that as scientists they can offer no hope of a specific defence against the atomic bomb."

Roman Church Waged Long War Against Nazis

By DANIEL DE LUCE

BERLIN, Sept. 25.—(AP)—A secret struggle between the Gestapo and the Roman Catholic hierarchy which lasted from the rise of Nazidm to its fall is disclosed in confidential documents of the Reich security police found here.

Reports by Reinhard (Hangman) Heydrich and other Gestapo chiefs show that their agents stole, bribed and corrupted to get access to messages from the Holy See to prelates in Germany and western Europe.

By his own signed statement, Heydrich looked upon the clergymen as enemies of Hitler's new order.

VOICED RAGE

In a secret report dated Jan. 15, 1942, a few months before his assassination in Prague, Heydrich expressed his rage at the Vatican's activities.

He charged that the Vatican secretariat, after establishing a special bureau to supply amenities to Italian and German Catholics in Allied war prisoner camps, was spreading the news about their good treatment to "weaken the resistance of Italian soldiers particularly and persuade them to surrender."

In June, 1942, the Gestapo prepared a five-page secret report on a religious celebration by German Catholic youth.

"The Catholic church has attempted even now through intensive propaganda to make this religious celebration a test of power against the Hitler Jugend," it stated. "While priests generally refrained from sermons of any enemy (hostile) tone against the state, the bishops, and especially Konrad Groeber, archbishop of Freiburg, spoke out."

LETTER FROM POPE

In July, the Gestapo seized a hand-written letter from the Pope to the archbishop of Freiburg which it quoted as blessing him for his faithfulness "in the double fiery test of war and state measures against the church."

CP General Manager Retires, Gillis Purcell Is Successor

QUEBEC, Sept. 26.—(CP)—Retirement of J. A. McNeil as general manager of The Canadian Press and appointment of Gillis Purcell, assistant general manager, as his successor, were announced last night by Senator W. A. Buchanan, president of the national news gathering co-operative following a meeting of the board of directors.

Mr. McNeil, 69, has headed the CP staff since 1939, when he came to the post after many years as managing editor of the Montreal Gazette. Mr. Purcell, 46, joined CP in 1928 and has occupied executive positions at head office in Toronto since 1931, with the exception of a period overseas as public relations officer for the 1st Canadian Corps.

Mr. McNeil retires after more than half a century in newspaper work. Born in Angus, Ont., near Barrie, he was apprenticed to the printer's trade in 1880, and continued in the trade for 10 years. In 1900 he joined the reporting staff of the London Advertiser, and three years later went to the Toronto Mail and Empire. In 1911-12 he was first night correspondent in Toronto of the newly-formed Canadian Press, Limited, forerunner of the present nation-wide co-operative.

WENT TO MONTREAL

He moved to Montreal in 1913 with the Montreal Gazette, becoming successively reporter, assistant city editor, telegraph editor, news editor and editorial writer. He acted also as dramatic critic. He was appointed managing editor in 1927, and in the same year became a director of the Canadian Press. From 1932 until his appointment as general manager he was CP's second vice-president.

Mr. Purcell, born in Brandon, Man., in 1904, started his career with the Hanna, Alta., Herald, a weekly. He served for two years on the sports staff of the Windsor Daily Star before joining CP, and worked in Winnipeg and Ottawa bureaux of the news agency before his transfer to head office, where his first appointment was that of assistant news editor.

For a number of years, in that position and successively as news editor, general news editor and general superintendent he worked closely with the late J. F. B. Livesay, then general manager, in developing coverage of news in Canada and organizing staff. One of his biggest jobs was organization of war correspondent staff on the fighting fronts.

In 1940 he went overseas as corps public relations officer, and returned in 1941 after suffering loss of a leg on manoeuvres in England. In 1942 he became assistant general manager.

Eastern Member Says Should Drown All Japanese "Rats"

OTTAWA, Sept. 25.—(CP)—W. C. S. McLure (PC—Queen's) told the Commons last night he was inclined to believe that "the Great Ruler may never fully pardon the American nation or the British nation for not absolutely destroying and driving into the sea those human rats of the Pacific." "God forbid that our nation ever allow one of them to put foot in Canada again," said Mr. McLure. He said some might consider him bitter but if they studied Japanese atrocities he was sure there was not a member of the house who would not say: 'Away with those human rats.'"

Saigon Market Place Burned By Annamites

By VERN HAUGHLAND

SAIGON, Indo-China, Sept. 26—(AP)—Uncontrollable Annamites (natives) who kidnapped 41 Europeans and possibly killed 10 yesterday, burned down their market place last night. The spectacular fire raged uncontrolled a few blocks from the city's centre.

French, who gathered in excited clusters on the main street, watched the flames and charged that Annamites stole Saigon's fire engines three days ago and now were engaged in carrying out their threat to burn the city to the ground.

WITHOUT FIREMEN

Annamites formerly composed a fire brigade which they now had abandoned, leaving the city without firemen.

Two platoons of British troops driving across the northern part of the city Tuesday afternoon rescued 31 of the 40 Frenchmen kidnapped by Annamites, a British headquarters spokesman announced.

The British source said nine were missing and probably slain.

British officials also reported the kidnapping of a British officer, a former prisoner-of-war. Seized by the Annamites, he still was missing at nightfall.

Fighting went on into the third consecutive day, and was the most widespread since unrest became riotous on Sept. 2.

Whole of RCAF To be Returned By Next April

OTTAWA, Sept. 26. — (CP) — More than 36,000 RCAF personnel have been repatriated from Europe since May 1 of this year and if the present rate of return is maintained it is expected that, except for those required for the occupation air force, all Canadian Air Force men will have been brought home by next March 31, Air Minister Gibson said last night in a statement.

In addition to the 36,000 already home, another 1,000 airmen were expected to reach Canada by Oct. 1, the statement said, adding that repatriation was proceeding at a satisfactory rate" with full advantage being taken of all shipping accommodation.

The minister said his statement was occasioned by reports that radar personnel were not being repatriated as fast as others. In answer to this he said that because 3,580 of the 4,500 RCAF radar personnel overseas were serving with RAF units when VE-Day came, the initial rate of repatriation for them was not as high as the average "but this situation has been overtaken."

MANY COME HOME

The disposition of radar personnel outside Canada did not permit repatriation before VE-Day but since then 1,068 radar personnel had come home. It was anticipated that by the end of November all radar personnel from RAF units will have been returned to the RCAF "at which time all those low priority personnel required for the occupation force will have been selected and the balance will then be available for repatriation."

In computing priority for repatriation, the statement said one point was allowed for each month's service in Canada and two points for each month overseas. These priorities were applied to each individual trade and, as units no longer required for the occupation forces were disbanded, low priority personnel were transferred to units continuing to operate, thus permitting the repatriation of those in the higher priorities.

Of the RCAF personnel already home, the statement said 31,452 were repatriated from May 1 to Aug. 31 of this year. First priority was given those then required for the Pacific force and these, not including volunteers and personnel required for training that force, numbered 14,081. Former prisoners of war repatriated totalled 2,506 and the balance of 14,865 were repatriated in accordance with their priority, except for a small number of medical and compassionate cases.

Mystery Cleared Up

Jap Records Provide Proof Tokyo Raiders Put to Death

In the following exclusive dispatch, a United Press correspondent clears up the three and a half year old mystery surrounding the fate of three missing airmen who participated in the first American air raid on Tokyo.—EDITOR.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 26.—(BUP)—Captured enemy records provided the first definite confirmation today that the Japanese executed three American airmen who participated in the famed "Doolittle raid" on Tokyo, April 1 in 1942.

The records, including the official Japanese account of the perfunctory court martial which condemned the men, disclosed that they died before a firing squad at a war prisoners' camp near Shanghai's Kiangwan race tract, Oct. 15, 1942.

The fliers were identified as:

1st Lt. William G. Farrow of Washington and Darlington, S.C.

1st Lt. Dean Hallmark of Dallas, Texas.

Sgt. Harold A. Satz of Lebo Kang, and New York State.

A fourth member of the Doolittle team, 1st Lt. Robert J. Meder of Lakewood, Ohio, died in a Nanking prison Dec. 1, 1943 of malnutrition, beri beri and dysentry. The remaining four of the eight Doolittle fliers captured by the Japanese were liberated last month and three already have been flown back to the United States.

The court martial records revealed that all eight fliers originally were sentenced to death, though the sentences of all but three subsequently were commuted to life imprisonment.

The records bear the signatures and official chops of the four chief Japanese officers who participated in what was little more than a mock trial. They have been placed on top of the American war crimes list in the Shanghai area for submission to the Chinese for action.

The wanied officers are: Lt. Col. Makajo Toyama, presiding judge; 1st Lt. Wamihu Yusei, associate judge; 2nd Lt. Okada Kyukei, associate judge, and Maj. Isuro, trial prosecutor.

The court record gave the lie to Japanese claims that they did not impose special punishment on air crews. It specifically stated that the eight airmen were being tried "under that portion of the military regulations which comes under enemy plane crews".

ducted reconnaissance personally, both by day and by night, often under heavy and accurate mortar and shell fire.

"During the rapid pursuit of the enemy forces north of Lake Trasimeno, Italy, between July 1 and July 4, 1944, this officer moved with the most forward troops, and by his personal example and skilful direction enabled our pursuing forces to maintain contact, thus preventing the enemy from reorganizing and re-establishing a defensive line.

UNDER HEAVY FIRE

"Under heavy fire of all natures he personally directed his reconnaissance troop on July 2 and 3, 1944, seizing three bridges over the Chiana canal before these could be blown by the enemy thus enabling the momentum of the advance to be continued. During the pursuit to the Arno river, on many occasions, he personally reconnaissanced routes of advance under mortar and shell fire enabling his tanks to cross country considered impassable for tanks, continuously surprising the enemy in this manner.

"Again during the fighting through the Gothic line and the Appennines his personal reconnaissances, forward of the forward defended localities in heavily mined country enabled his regiment to get forward in most difficult terrain and render support to the infantry of the 8th Indian division which resulted in the taking of many difficult features including San Bartolo, Monte Carolino and Monte Budrailto.

"This officer's contempt of danger, personal fighting spirit, magnificent example and outstanding leadership have been an inspiration to his regiment and have directly contributed throughout the mixed and heavy fighting of the 1944 Italian campaign to successive defeats of the enemy."

Richardson, resides at 10126 122 street.

Maj. Mace was cited as an officer who, with a company only 65 strong, captured 60 prisoners and killed or wounded 65 more while cut off from the rest of the battalion for 12 hours. The action took place during the Gothic Line battle in September, 1944. He was also recommended for other services including the carrying to safety of a wounded officer in the face of enemy sniper fire.

A mechanic and diesel engineer in Innisfail, prior to being taken on strength of the active army, Maj. Mace, was born Feb. 21, 1916, in Vermilion. He enlisted as a private, Sept. 7, 1939, and was promoted to the rank of second lieutenant in the same month.

Promotion overseas brought him to the rank of major by November 27, 1944. He returned to Canada again in July, 1945. His wife, Mrs. Frances Mace, lives in Innisfail.

Montreal Veterans May Back Butchers Against Vigilantes

MONTREAL, Sept. 26.—(CP)—A resolution was unanimously passed last night at an executive meeting of the Verdun branch, No. 4, of the Canadian Legion, to call upon all veterans in the west-end suburb to join in a body and offer protection to Verdun merchants if they seek aid in resuming their normal business will not intimidation by meat strikers' gangs, if the stores are still closed by Saturday.

R. DeWitt, branch president, said they would have no trouble organizing a group of 1,000 veterans for what he called "an emergency." Protection would be offered to all stores needing aid, which would include chain stores, grocers, meat merchants and any other shops closed by the strikers' "vigilantes" who patrolled Verdun Tuesday.

Ottawa May Act In Meat Strike

OTTAWA, Sept. 26.—(CP)—The war measures act, still in full effect, provides the government with wide scope to take drastic action in meeting the strike of butchers who have closed their stores in protest at meat rationing, officials said yesterday. While there was no indication that any definite action was being planned the government could use the war measures act to take over closed stores and operate them under public control. Use could also be made of Royal Canadian Mounted Police in guarding the stores.

The ROAD AHEAD

By Capt. HARPER PROWSE, M.L.A.

EVER since it has been suggested that the government should move to meet the need for low-rent homes in Canada by adopting a subsidized housing scheme there have been bleats of dispair from various official and interested quarters. For example, Gray Turgeon, former chairman of the House of Commons committee on reconstruction and re-establishment suggests it is a scheme to enable certain industrialists to increase their profits.

In an interesting little booklet entitled "Housing" circulated recently, Mr. Turgeon writes: "The effort to have the state become the landlord of "low-income" groups should be bitterly resisted by every labor union in Canada. An acceptance of this so-called remedy for low income would be a negation of all the basic traditions of labor organizations.

"If the government must provide a house for a workman who is not properly remunerated for services rendered to his employer and to his community, then the government should provide food and clothing to a workman in similar circumstances who has a house but whose improper remuneration will not permit him to keep himself and his family properly supplied with food and clothing.

WAGES OF INDUSTRY

"If this proposed policy were imposed upon the people of Canada the general taxpayers would be paying a part of the proper wages of industry. An industrial magnate who wished to defraud his employees would have his profits materially increased; workmen would lose their independence, and the foundation spirit of labor organizations would be destroyed."

So writes Mr. Turgeon. These statements are very interesting because they come from a man who is apparently the official spokesman for a government which has just put into operation a very comprehensive and acceptable family allowances plan.

If it is sought to give a workman money to assist in the proper feeding and clothing of his children, then surely it is just as sound to help him to keep a decent roof over his head.

The state has in fact been the landlord for a great many people in Britain and various other European countries for years through the granting of outright subsidies on both capital costs and on rentals. And, whether Mr. Turgeon and Mr. Ilsley like it or not the state is going to be the landlord in Canada before we finally get this housing business settled. There just isn't any other solution to the problem, so we might just as well accept it and stop beating our heads on the wall.

ECONOMIC THEORY

The economic theory behind the family allowance scheme is to put purchasing power into the hands of those who will spend it. Under this scheme the government will collect taxes from those who would normally be putting something aside for a rainy day and give it to those who need it for their daily food, clothing and other necessities.

It will put more than $250,000,000 per year into circulation which would otherwise go into savings accounts. This will take goods off shelves, create demands for factories, thus creating jobs, resulting in more pay-checks, an increased national income and more prosperity for everyone. All of which makes sense and is good.

Mr. Ilsley plans to have the life-insurance companies and others build 100,000 homes to rent at $30-$35 per month each. Now if the government were to rent these for $15-$20 per month the veterans and workmen who will live in them would have an additional $15 per month to spend. This would mean that there would be an additional $18,000,000 per year in the pockets of those who would spend it, taking goods off shelves, keeping the wheels of industry turning, creating more jobs, more pay-cheques, more prosperity. All of which seems to be sensible and good.

OUTLOOK ON WAGES

Of course, it would be nice if the minimum wage in Canada were set at $150 per month. This would solve Mr. Ilsley's problem. But until this happens, then let's have homes people who need them can afford to live in. Let's put this money into circulation where it will help to raise wages—not into savings accounts where it helps to lower them.

Official of Bank Sees Continued West Prosperity

Succession of good crops and fair prices for their produce has left Western Canada in good condition to meet the hazards of reconstruction, M. M. Walter, Montreal, assistant general manager, the Royal Bank of Canada, stated on his arrival here Wednesday in the course of a survey of conditions in the West.

Accompanied by Mrs. Walter, he has visited the Pacific coast, and will stop over here for a few days prior to leaving for Saskatoon and Eastern Canada. During his stay here he will confer with J. G. Nickerson, manager, Edmonton main branch, and other executive officers.

SEES PROSPERITY

He said that Western Canada and the Pacific coast should enjoy continued prosperity during the next few years, adding that the demands of devastated Europe alone will tax the productive powers of Canada during the reconstruction period. He said that Canadian industry also should enjoy prosperity during this period.

Mr. Walter said that the next 90 days might find some vexing labor problems, but he expressed confidence that a ready solution to them would be found.

Commenting on the development of Edmonton since his last visit here shortly prior to the outbreak of war, Mr. Walter said the city had developed beyond all comprehension.

Dealing with expansion plans of the bank, Mr. Walter said that close attention was being given to this, and expansion would be made as need for extension of banking facilities became apparent in any territory.

THE QUESTION

What do you think of the establishment by the city council of the new scale of salaries for higher civic officials?

THE ANSWERS

HARVEY WILSON, truck driver: Salaries at the Civic block have been at a standstill for many years insofar as top officials are concerned, and I think the upward revision is in line with the trend of the times.

STANLEY BANNISTER, accountant: I am sure that the new salary schedule is not out of line with salaries paid officials in similar posts in cities of comparable size, and if the officials are performing services of a valuable nature, they should be rewarded on the basis of those services.

JAMES FINLAYSON, clerk: I am sure that the payment of the new salary schedule will have beneficial results for the city. Improved salary conditions will have the effect of producing better results.

New Canadian Navy Manual Explains Meaning of Rates

The Royal Canadian Navy has recently published a manual entitled "Naval Rates—Their Meaning for Employers", Lt. Cmdr. W. C. L. Webster, commanding officer of HMCS Nonsuch announced Wednesday. This 259-page manual contains a clear, concise statement of the training and duties of every rate in the naval service, including those of the Women's Royal Canadian Naval Service.

In addition the types of civilian work most closely related to the duties performed by ratings in each branch of the service are briefly listed.

This manual was originally prepared for the use of personnel counsellors who interview each rating, Lt. Cmdr. Webster stated, but it has been decided that it should prove very useful to employers in assisting them to understand naval rates.

BASIS OF RATES

He pointed out that in almost every rate in the service advancement is made on the basis of professional examination as well as the recommendation of the immediate commanding officer, and accordingly reference to the manual will indicate what can be expected of the man when he returns to civilian life.

Copies of the manual are being mailed to all employers in Canada who employ more than five persons.

Post-war problems facing the provincial department of lands and mines will be discussed by the Hon N. E. Tanner, minister, at a meeting of the East Edmonton Associated Social Credit group at 8 p.m. on Thursday in the Social Credit hall, 9974 Jasper avenue, and will be shown a number of scenic views of Alberta by L. R. Wealthy, Edmonton photographer.

RETURNS HOME.—Wren C. A. Kinnaird, daughter of Lt.-Col. G. D. K. Kinnaird, ED, officer commanding the 2nd (Reserve) Battalion The Loyal Edmonton Regiment, and Mrs. Kinnaird, 12424 102 avenue, who has returned here to resume civilian status after service in the navy.

Clothing Drive Ready to Open Next Monday

With 15 trucks and 35 passenger automobiles ready to "cover" each district speedily, everything is all set for the opening of the big drive in Edmonton to obtain used clothing and footwear for Europe's ill-clad millions through the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration.

At a meeting of the Edmonton committee in charge of the drive held Tuesday under the chairmanship of John Dower, final plans for the drive were completed.

OPENS ON MONDAY

The drive will open on Monday with South Side homes being canvassed by the truck and auto fleet for pickups of packaged clothing.

The central depot and general headquarters will be in the Bradburn-Thompson Block, 10162 101 street.

Headquarters telephone number is 29623.

For the purposes of the campaign the city has been divided into six districts, the South Side forming one, with the remaining five on the North Side.

In addition donations may always be brought in direct to central headquarters in the Bradburn-Thompson block.

It is planned to visit every single residence in the city.

REQUEST PACKAGES

Committee officials ask that all donations be packaged as to category and clearly labelled as to contents. The categories are: Men, women and children's clothing and footwear.

All donations should be reasonably clean as the committee will not take on cleaning of itself.

Donors may include their names and addresses in the packages if they so desire.

Plans for pickups in the remaining five districts will be announced within a day or so.

Trucks for initial pickups are being supplied by the various branches of the armed forces in Edmonton while automobiles are placed in the service of the committee by representatives of various service clubs.

City cartage firms are supplying larger trucks for carting donations from sub-depots to the central depot at the close of the campaign each day.

Clayton Dolighan, of the Edmonton Junior Chamber of Commerce, is in charge of the car procurement committee.

Jack Colburn heads the cartage committee.

Mrs. Robert Procter is chairman of the central depot, with Mrs. R. Schurman head of the zone committee.

The total of first year students to register at the University of Alberta Tuesday, was 482, of these 224 were veterans, this makes a total of 852 students registered so far this week. According to A. E. Ottewell, university registrar, this total is away above that of any other year. There is still two more registration days, and it may be found necessary to have an additional period in order to complete the registration.

Youth Is Given 4-Month Term For Vagrancy

Thomas Chapman, 18-year-old former Vancouver resident, was sentenced to four months' imprisonment with hard labor at the Fort Saskatchewan jail in city police court Tuesday afternoon when found guilty of vagrancy.

Chapman was serving a two-year suspended sentence at the time of his arrest Sept. 20, and since he can be again charged with the offence for which this sentence was ordered, it was indicated there may be a new hearing of the shop-breaking count that placed him on suspension last June 21.

CAUGHT BY PATROL

Court was told that Chapman was picked up by a police patrol at 4:40 a.m. Sept. 20 in company with two youths aged 16 and 17 years.

Police said he had in his possession a file, a quantity of rifle and shotgun shells and a length of white cloth. One of the juveniles had a flashlight and a piece of cloth, on which was marked "The Jokers Three," "Chief" and "Ha, Ha," also a cartridge belt and a quantity of safety pins.

The second juvenile had a flashlight, cloth marked "Jokers" and some pins. All were wearing identical pairs of gloves.

COULD BE MASKS

It was pointed out that the cloths could have been used as masks, the pins for securing the masks, and the other articles could be regarded as burglar's weapons.

Chapman's explanation was that the cloth was being used as a handkerchief. As for the shells:

"We were putting the shells on street car tracks to get a little excitement—everybody does that."

Magistrate A. I. Miller, KC, said, "I don't do that."

The accused made no comment.

Chapman asked the court why he was being charged with having no visible means of support.

"I've been living at home and my parents have been supporting me," he explained.

Church Seeking To Raise Funds For Vital Work

In a "victory loan" all its own, the Anglican Church is attempting to raise $4,000,000 with which to extend the church's missionary, evangelistic and educational work. The Very Rev. R. H. Waterman, dean of Niagara, organizing secretary of this Anglican advance, will be an Edmonton visitor Thursday to lay plans for the campaign in conference with local church men and women.

This united appeal is here set out in terms of money, but dollars are only the graduation marks on the thermometer recording the spiritual vitality of the church.

TO SERVE CAUSES

Behind the figures $4,000,000 stand the causes which the money will serve. It will raise the income of clergy to new levels. Those who have grown old in the service will be given a reasonable pension. The long awaited extension of the church's work into neglected areas will be made possible.

Men and women, as well as money, will be called into the service of the church. It is an advance on all fronts.

The Very Rev. R. H. Waterman, dean of Niagara, organizing secretary of the advance will arrive in Edmonton tomorrow morning over Canadian National lines to lay plans for the campaign in conference with local church men and women. All day Thursday he will be with the clergy and laity from rural areas and will address the Diocesan Executive Committee in the evening.

PLAN MEETINGS

On Friday at 2:30 p.m. a public meeting for all Anglican women will be held in All Saints' Parish Hall and Friday evening at 8 o'clock, a public meeting for Anglican men will be held in All Saints' Parish Hall.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS:

Newlyweds Warned to Avoid Daily Spatting

Couples Should Avoid Greatest Cause of Wrecked Marriages, Quarreling; This Is One Piece of Advice More Earnest Than Others

If I could give one piece of advice more earnest than any other to the thousands of youngsters who are rushing into marriage, it would be this: Beware the daily spat. It is the most dangerous thing you can do if you expect to be happy though married.

Don't contradict everything your husband or wife says, no matter what superior information you may have to the contrary, or how right you may be in your opinion. The arguing habit kills more love, breaks up more homes and is first and to more divorces than all other causes combined. The family war, like the war of nations, is never won by either side. Both lose out.

RIFT WIDENS

We often wonder why so many marriages go on the rocks for no apparent reason. Both the husband and wife are fine people of irreproachable character, intelligent, kind and generous. He is a good provider. She is a splendid housekeeper. They have a beautiful home and nice children, and when they married they were much in love with each other.

Yet in a little while there is a rift within the lute. Their voices take on a little edge when they talk to each other, and they begin giving each other sly little digs, that are like rapier thrusts, when they are in company, or else they sit up when they are alone in a silence so thick you could cut it with a knife. When you go in their house, you realize that the temperature has dropped from summer heat to the freezing point and that all the signals for stormy weather are out, and you think it is just too bad that this has happened to the Xs, and wonder how it came about.

Nobody knows, least of all do the Xs realize that they brought their calamity upon their own heads by their daily spats. They thought that a family fight was an innocent indoor diversion and that calling each other names and raking up family scandals and pointing out each other's faults was of no consequence, because after they had exhausted their venom on each other they would kiss and make up. They ignored the stark and terrible fact that no quarrel is ever really made up.

GLOSS OVER

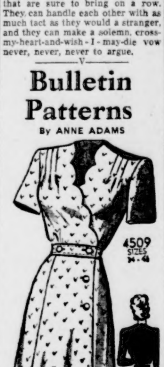

Gloss it over as we may, forgive it as we pretend to, there is the memory of it always festering in our consciousness. There is the bitter knowledge that in their anger our husbands and wives have shown us just what they think of us.

The tragic thing about these daily spats that wreck so many marriages is that they are nearly always about nothing. Any word is the fighting word. I have sat at breakfast tables where I thought murder would be committed before the meal was over, because the wife thought a certain movie was just too sweet and the husband called it tripe. And I wondered that neither one had the sense to perceive that they were playing with dynamite that would one day explode and blow their home to smithereens.

Of course, the young couple to whom I am talking and who have not yet acquired the daily spat habit will say that no husband and wife can always see eye to eye and agree on every subject. Certainly not, but when they differ they can keep their opinions to themselves. They can keep off of the subjects that are sure to bring on a row. They can handle each other with as much tact as they would a stranger, and they can make a solemn, cross-my-heart-and-wish-I-may-die vow never, never, never to argue.

McKenney On Bridge

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority

When discussion of a bridge hand develops into an argument between experts, I always lend an attentive ear. Recently I heard an argument about the hand shown today. I am not giving you the spade holding in the East and West hands, as that was the basis of the discussion.

and discarded his losing diamond on the queen of clubs. Now he played a small spade from dummy and west played low.

How should North play the spade suit? Everyone agreed that his first play should be the jack of spades, and let us say that East wins this with the king. A diamond return is ruffed by North, a heart led to dummy's ace and another spade led.

If West plays low, what should North play now? Has East the ace as well as the king? If so, the eight-spot should be finessed. However, the majority of experts claim that the queen should be played at this time, hoping to split the honors.

Unfortunately, in this particular hand, the queen lost, as East held the blank ace-king. The finesse probably should be taken in this case, because of East's vulnerable overcall of two diamonds, which would hardly be justified without the ace-king of spades.

Icebergs are huge pieces of glaciers which are formed on land, broken off along shore regions and are floated away in the ocean. The icebergs of the North Atlantic ocean are mostly formed along the shores of Greenland. As they are not formed of salt water, their water is fresh, and is sometimes used as a source of drinking water on ships. Some icebergs in the Atlantic are a mile across, and 1500 feet thick, but most of the ice is submerged below the water. The part below the water is usually about six times as large as the part visible above the water, making them dangerous to ships.

Would Ask Attlee To Clarify Status Of Professor Laski

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26—(AP)—President Truman was asked yesterday to urge Prime Minister Attlee to "repudiate or endorse" Harold Laski, chairman of the British Labor party.

Representative William B. Barry (Dem-N.Y.), who made the request in a letter to the President, declared Prof. Laski "made a typical communistic smear attack on the Catholic church" in an address Monday night.

"If Laski speaks for the majority of those now in power in Britain, I believe that the majority of Americans would oppose any further loan to Britain at this time", Mr. Barry asserted in the letter.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

A mother is always fortunate, when mistakes have been made in a neighborhood, to be able to move and start in anew, with all the past experiences in the background.

Mrs. T., August 6th, when you move into your new neighborhood and set up your play-yard that you have in one of the rooms, by children to play. Set down the rules of play right at the moment. Tell them they may share the play apparatus with your children. But, that when they get rough and quarrelsome you will have to ask them to go home, as then no one has a good time.

Ordinarily it is unwise to discuss children's behavior with the parents. Unless it is a matter of deliberate destruction it is better to deal with it yourself. Children will run over you if they find they can, as apparently they did in the old neighborhood. Start in on a different footing. Be kind; hospitable and firm, especially about the behavior you demand of them in your yard. You'll get it.

Don't forget that your children need the experience of being guests as well as hosts and don't feel that you must entertain the whole neighborhood perpetually. Mothers will let you take care of all the children, if you will, taking the line of least resistance.

Children who play away from home should be aware that it is their own behavior that makes them welcome. If they want to play they'll hold themselves to whatever standards you set.

Mrs. F. N.: Thank you so much for your lovely letter. Would you like the leaflet, "Toys for All Ages"? This would give you an idea of the amusement material suitable for your baby at this time. A self-addressed, stamped envelope will bring you any of our leaflets at any time.

Kathleen G.: Your question is not suitable for newspaper discussion. But, I do think your friend got very poor advice. She should live with her husband as a wife should, or divorce him. This is a habit which would be fostered by the very behavior the adviser suggests. I doubt if the boy would be affected in any way by his presence.

Mrs. E. E. A.: The coated tongue is not important but his whole state of health is. He lacks sufficient protein (meats, eggs, milk cheese, nut butters, etc.) in his diet and his noon meal is especially poor. Alter his diet and you should find the health improving.

Our leaflet "Children's Quarrels" and "Diet from 2 to 5 Years", may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with this request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

Minute Make-Ups

Going out in a hurry? Horrors! Legs dark with a fuzzy down? So ugly through your best sheer hose! Quick—rub the fuzz away with a little "erasing" hair remover. I hope that you keep one of these little wonder stones in your beauty box. Apply liquid powder to your legs after the fuzz is cleaned away. Now, gently pull on your best sheers. Straighten the seams. Points for Parents

By EDYTH THOMAS WALLACE

Father: "It's no wonder you children like to go to school nowadays. School is made so much pleasanter than it used to be."

Father: "I used to hate going to school, too—so I know how you feel, but you don't want to grow up to be an ignoramus, do you?"

Parents sometimes fail to realize how much a chance remark affects the likes or dislikes of their children.

Women Favor Rationing Says Mrs. Frank Conroy

"All the women I speak to are in favor of meat rationing, especially the use of tokens," said Mrs. Frank J. Conroy, chairman of the Women's Regional Advisory Committee to the Consumer Branch of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, when queried by The Edmonton Bulletin on Wednesday.

"The women feel that under the other rationing system they lost out," she continued.

"If we do not have rationing Canada cannot meet her commitments to Europe and the liberated countries which need meat. To requisition meat would mean that the butchers and customers will do without and only a few would obtain it," Mrs. Conroy said.

PLAYED BIG PART

Mrs. Conroy has given of her time since Sept. 1942, as adviser for the WTPB.

The advisory committee has played a big part in the fight to keep prices stable in Canada and now is helping to keep down inflation by educating the housewife. In September, 1942, Mrs. Conroy attended a conference in Ottawa of all the regional advisors in Canada and upon her return and in the years following has travelled throughout the province lecturing to consumer branch groups.

Bryne Hope Saunders, Ottawa, Dominion chairman of the consumer branch, has high praise for Mrs. Conroy's work.

WELL-FITTED

Mrs. Conroy was well fitted for her present work having been president of the Northern Alberta Liberal Association. She has taken a keen interest in politics. She has a natural executive ability and has been president of the Edmonton Diocese of the Catholic Women's League, which embraces a membership of 2,000 throughout northern Alberta. She was for many years convener of welfare work for the League and was instrumental in bringing into being quilting classes and sewing groups, conducted by the League.

Of other activities, or hobbies, Mrs. Conroy likes writing, and has had several articles published. Music and bridge she enjoys, and walking for exercise. She admits she gets more enjoyment out of juggling with figures and solving mathematical problems than anything else and would consider it fun "to sit in an office all day". She is fond, too, of heavier reading, history and philosophy.

BORN IN PETERBORO

Mrs. Conroy was born in Peterboro, Ont., the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Carveth. Receiving her education at Notre Dame convent, Peterboro, she taught school for three years there and at Sault Ste Marie and North Bay.

She was married at her home town in May, 1912, to Frank J. Conroy, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Conroy of Peterboro. She has three sons, Allan, William and Harry, and three daughters, Marion Catherine, Patricia and Gertrude.

Church Group Plans Reception

A special invitation is extended to friends from other churches in the city and also to service women and war brides.

WILL RECEIVE

Mrs. R. McElroy Thompson and Mrs. R. D. Foster will receive the guests. Co-hostesses will be Mrs. J. C. Jonason, Mrs. F. H. Richards, Mrs. R. Tate, Mrs. H. Ness, Mrs. C. R. Strong and Mrs. W. J. McLeod.

Wives of United church ministers and others have been invited to pour tea. These include: Mrs. William Hollingsworth, Mrs. W. T. Young, Mrs. A. D. Miller, Mrs. A. K. McMinn, Mrs. John Fry, Mrs. Thomas Hart, Mrs. E. G. Turnbull, Mrs. Murdoch MacKinnon, Mrs. E. J. Thompson and Mrs. A. B. Argue.

Guides will conduct the visitors through the church and association members will serve tea in the assembly hall.

Show Desire for Return To Elegant Attire in Models

PARIS, Sept. 26.—(CP)—French designers have decided that the end of the war means women want to get back into elegant feminine clothes.

This attitude is reflected in almost every dress, particularly the afternoon and evening gowns, shown during the first week of couturiers' openings here.

Necklines are daringly low, with emphasis on the bustline. Tiny waistlines are dramatized by the use of bustles and full flaring skirts.

Jacques Heim, noted for furs and sports clothes, presents a collection of designs all emphasizing and highlighting the feminine figure. He uses lustrous velvets, satins and rustling taffeta for his more formal clothes and dresses up the suave, simple lines of his well-cut spectator sports clothes with such feminine touches as high pockets, tricky collars and sharp shoulder lines.

FAMOUS FOR SPORTS

Madeleine de Rauch, famous for sports and informal gowns, is hitting the same note. Her collection is rich in plaid, one of the season's most popular materials.

While Heim uses quantities of material in the skirts of his sports clothes, De Rauch places pumped interest in decorated pockets and sleeves.

Such designers as Maggy Rouff and Worth are showing clothes which will be wearable and practical during the anticipated rigors of the approaching winter.

SHORT COAT

Worth's large collection accents the short coat in both cloth and fur. His suits are snug with marvelous moulding over the hips, and wrist-length jackets.

Maggy Rouff also shows plenty of short coats, with the favorite swagger type seven-eighths length.

She makes interesting use of godets in adding flare to skirts. The outstanding trend of the entire collection is extravagant use of material in lavish drapes and pleats, all ultra-feminine and flattering. Afternoon and evening clothes place emphasis on bustles which range in size from moderate to huge.

Rouff, like others, favors tunic dresses, particularly in black.

Here's your magic wand for making milk

Say! Elsie: "It doesn't matter where you live—you can still have milk! Just add KLIM Powdered Milk to water, whisk with an egg-beater and presto! You have exactly the amount you need of nourishing milk for every purpose where milk is required."

All the cream left in!

KLIM is pasteurized whole milk in handy powder form. Only the natural moisture has been removed. All the cream and all of the nutritive values of fresh pasteurized milk are retained.

Milk made from KLIM keeps as well as fresh fluid milk. But by making only as much as you need each time, you can always have a fresh supply.

And KLIM Whole Milk Powder itself stays fresh long after the vacuum-sealed container is opened. It's always handy.

$1,300 Is Donated To Chest Coffers

Outstanding among contributions to the Community Chest in the latest list issued by officials is the $800 donated by the employees of Gainers Ltd. This is boosted by the firm itself by an additional $500, to make an overall $1,300 gift by this firm and its personnel.

The total contributed topped the $50,000 mark on Tuesday evening, and with only a few more days to go committee officials are still urging canvassers to complete their calls and turn in their reports.

The Bank of Montreal and The Royal Bank of Canada have donated $300 each to the welfare work of the chest.

More than $800 has been donated by seven Edmonton garages. They are Edmonton Motors, Ltd.; Healy Motors, Ltd.; Burrows Motors, Ltd.; Dominion Motors Ltd.; Lidgate Motors, Ltd.; Price Andrews, Ltd., and Kenn's Service Garage.

Before the Magistrate

The marriage difficulties that confronted David Killingbeck when he appeared in city police court last week were straightened out Wednesday when he again appeared before the magistrate. Charged with non-support, he was placed on suspended sentence for 12 months after he agreed that a certain portion of his wages be allotted by his employer to his wife.

Axel M. Christensen was fined $60 and costs or three months' imprisonment. He was charged with dangerous driving, arising out of an accident Tuesday evening when his truck, operated on the wrong side of the road, collided with an automobile on 95 street, north of 102 avenue.

In police court Tuesday afternoon Cpl. Theodore J. V. Gieien was fined $20 and costs or 30 days for speeding while driving an army automobile last Saturday. He told the court he was in a hurry to pick up an officer, to which the magistrate retorted that he must obey the law the same as anyone else.

Cromdale League Officers Elected

The Cromdale Community League held its annual general meeting at their sports building 82 street, Tuesday evening, at which the following new executive was elected: President, Mrs. J. Clarke; vice-president, Dr. A. J. O'Neil; treasurer, Cyril Baines; secretary appointment not yet confirmed.

A most satisfactory report on the progress of this league during the past year was tendered both in respect to the senior league and the juniors. Vice-president G. Stiles, paid a glowing tribute of appreciation to the past president, D. K. Lewis, who with what was termed most efficient co-operation from other members, accomplished so much during his term of office.

The slogan of this league is "Dividends in Better Citizenship" which can be interpreted into a great deal of very useful service.

A lively discussion arose about the objectionable features of the city garbage dump on the banks of the river below this otherwise picturesque district, which the city authorities still permit to be used as a final resting place for the most obnoxious refuse for disposal, which according to our medical health officer is definitely a detriment to the health of the district, it was stated.

"Gang" of Youths Active in Calder

That a gang of youthful trouble-makers is causing damage and injury through the Calder district bordering on Camp 550, military base reconverted to civilian dwelling places, was charged by a woman resident of the camp in a complaint made Wednesday to city police.

The woman told police of several boys, their ages ranging from 13 to 16 years, attacking her son and another youth, both about 10 years old with a mediaeval "torture racket" consisting of ropes, burning fagots and singed feet.

According to the complaint, the two young boys were "captured" by the older gang, tied to trees and menaced by sticks of burning wood.

Later, the woman said, fires were built at the feet of the terrified youngsters and their clothing singed by the flames.

The woman declared the same boys are causing trouble throughout the neighborhood.

TODAY'S MARKETS

Toronto Stocks

TORONTO, Sept. 26—(CP) — In a market that crowded the four million share total, the Toronto Exchange had one of its big trading sessions of recent years today. The action came chiefly in the secondary gold issues and Eldona, the leader of the group, traded in volume of more than a half-million shares. Gains were held by the gold and industrial groups and the base metals and western oils showed little net change.

Salvation Army Plans Big Drive

A reconstruction drive is expected to be launched across Canada by the Salvation Army beginning next June. This was announced by Col. H. C. Tutte, head Salvation Army public relations officer for Canada, who arrived in Edmonton Wednesday from Vancouver.

He said the army was going to endeavor to make its home services comparable to the services offered the armed forces during the war. An appeal will be made to the public to make this program possible and it hoped to raise in excess of $2,000,000.

Col. Tutte is in Edmonton to confer with army officials here, in connection with the advisory board and the home front appeal.

A former resident of Edmonton in 1918, then public relations officer for Alberta, Col. Tutte headed the campaign which made possible the children's home in Calgary.

He will leave for his headquarters in Toronto on Thursday.

Decision Awaited On Exchange Site

The provincial government is still awaiting a decision by civic authorities on the government's application for a site before preliminary steps in the construction of a provincial telephone exchange building in Edmonton can be proceeded with.

Hon. W. A. Fallow, Alberta minister of public works, said Wednesday that he is without word from the city following the government's proposal that a site next to the former Dominion Motors Bldg., near the Cenotaph, on 102 street, be turned over for the telephone building.

Cost of the proposed exchange building is said to be approximately $400,000.

Well-Known Alberta Minister Is Dead

A well-known Alberta pastor, the Rev. Dr. A. L. Carr, a resident of Steveston, died Monday. He was 63 years old.

Born near Summerside, P.E.I., he was educated in Edmonton at Robertson College and later was graduated from the University of Alberta with the first class ever to graduate from there. This was in 1912.

He took post-graduate work at Edinburgh, later served in pastorates in Ontario, and then in 1930, he returned to Alberta where he served at Wembley, Bawlf and Lacombe.

He was president of the Alberta Conference of United Churches from 1942 to 1943, and at the time of his death was still taking an active part in the activities of the conference.

Survivors are his wife, residing at Steveston, and two sons, Douglas of Beaverlodge and Arthur of Fairview.

Arrangements for a funeral service have not yet been completed.

Ship Refloated After Six Days On River's Bar

After six days on a sandbar just below Fort McKay on the Athabasca river, the Northern Transportation Company's boat, the Radium Queen, is again afloat and on her way to deliver her cargo to points along the lower river and on the Mackenzie, according to word received on Wednesday morning by F. W. Broderick, local manager of the company.

The Clearwater, another of the company's vessels, contacted the Radium Queen sometime Tuesday and assisted in clearing her sister boat from the bar. The method used in clearing the craft was not disclosed, but it is thought that a passage may have been blasted through the bar, which had given the craft only two feet of water.

SLIGHT DAMAGE

Since the obstruction was of sand it is not thought here that the boat would be greatly damaged.

It is likely that shippers and all northern transportation companies will combine in a vigorous protest to the Dominion government that these navigation hazards in northern waters have not been cleared, said Mr. Broderick, who pointed out the inconvenience caused by the delay, particularly with the season so near its close.

Mr. Broderick plans to leave Edmonton Thursday morning for Waterways where he will deal with the problem of the more than 700 tons of freight still awaiting shipping into the north. It will be necessary to create priorities for this freight and that will be a part of Mr. Broderick's task.

No further word has been received at the local offices of the Hudson's Bay Company on the condition of the ship Distributor, stranded in Great Slave Lake.

8,000 Men Needed In Lumber Camps

About 8,000 jobs are available for men in Alberta lumber camps it was announced Wednesday at the National Selective Service office. Many of the camps opening this season are having a hard time to get enough help in order to operate efficiently.

It is expected that when harvesting is finished some help may be obtained. The shortage is considered acute because of the heavy demand for lumber during the present building boom.

Alberta must depend on her home supply as no increase in the supply of lumber can be expected from British Columbia, which is also suffering from a labor shortage, officials point out.

A campaign is being launched across Canada to try and obtain 50,000 men to work in the woods, according to Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, federal minister of labor.

Efforts to obtain lumbermen during the war appealed mainly to those working on farms to offer their services when the harvesting was finished. The new campaign will deal also with city workers, who during the war could not give their services because of the essential war work which had to be done.

Rapid Progress On New Homes

Rapid progress is being made on the construction of homes being erected between 113 and 114 streets and 108 and 109 avenues from timber salvaged from the former mining town of Brule.

More than 12 basements have been dug, and crews are now pouring concrete. Another work crew is busy on the installation of a sewer and water, and it is understood that the homes will be served by all utilities including natural gas.

Recently 20 lots were purchased from the city for approximately $6,600, and it is expected that 20 homes will be built this year. The entire project, it is stated, calls for the erection of approximately 60 homes.
